Football Coach Issue Grows

City Teachers Criticize 'Preferential Treatment'

A grievance petition signed by 33 East Liverpool High School teachers against what is claimed to be "preferential" treatment for football coach Robert McNea is moving up through administrative channels toward the board of education.

A group of high school faculty members met Thursday with Principal Clifford Lynch to air the petition filed several days ago, and a decision from Lynch is expected next week.

The board of directors of the East Liverpool Teachers Association has released a statement declaring the issue is the "apparent willingness" of the administration to permit pay and professional assignments not in line with staff pay and jobs elsewhere in the school district.

McNea and three of his aides resigned their posts over the fact the issue was being discussed between teachers and administrators, but withdrew their resignations when assured by Supt. Paul Blair the pay and assignment details of their 1968-69 contracts could not be revised.

THE HIGH school teachers met yesterday with Lynch as a prescribed procedure of filing grievances in administrative channels.

The board of directors of the ELTA, whose president is Clint McConnell, issued the following statement.

"The present controversy in the East Liverpool School District relative to the resignations and subsequent withdrawal of resignations by the football coach and three assistant coaches has developed into an unfortunate situation mainly because of a grievance filed recently by 33 high school teachers with the principal

"This grievance charges the administration with preferential treatment. Since the person receiving the preferential treatment happens to be a coach, it may seem to some elements of the public the grievance is against an individual. However, the grievance is against the practice and against the administration.

"THE APPARENT willingness of the administration leaders to lend themselves to such preferential attitudes has resulted in an adverse morale situation which is clearly a growing problem in the community's education process.

"We are far more concerned about the education system than we are with an individual, and hope an equitable arrangement satisfactory to all the teachers and the general public can be achieved."

Lynch was not at his office today, and it could not be learned when he would announce his decision on the grievance petition.

Supt. Blair, questioned about the move, said he feels there is no "preferential treatment" because the assignments and pay are spelled out in contracts and policy for all faculty members, and the contracts must be honored.

12 Hours Before Assassination

Witnesses Testify Sirhan Had Death Gun Practice

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Twelve hours before Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's assassination, witnesses say, the accused man was rapid-firing the death weapon on a target range.

Other witnesses say three bullets hit Kennedy—not two, as previously reported—and that the killer stepped from beside a smiling, shapely mystery girl and fired his revolver with "a very sick-looking smile on his face."

These were highlights of testimony made public Thursday by the county grand jury which last Friday indicted Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, a 24-year-old Jordanian immigrant, for the murder. The transcript—258 double-spaced typewritten pages—became public when filed with the county clerk.

Twenty-two witnesses—Sirhan not among them—pictured the slaying scene of terror and hysteria and its aftermath:

The kitchen area of the Ambassador Hotel jammed early June 5 with jubilant supporters escorting the New York senator and celebrating his victory in California's Democratic presidential primary. . .

Eight .22-caliber bullets exploding in "a deliberate. . . bang-bang cadence" like firecrackers or popping toy balloons. . .

Kennedy falling, fatally wounded, rearing back sharply. "Both hands went up. He was just about to shake hands.". . .

Five bystanders falling wounded. . .

The crowd's stunned, screaming reaction: "The suspect turned. . .and was trying to escape. . .People were trying—were hitting him and cursing at him, and it was utter confusion. I mean everyone was trying to kill him."

Testimony from hotel employes, police and medical men gave this picture:

A half hour before the shooting, Sirhan had been waiting in the hotel kitchen, asking a porter three or four times if the senator was expected to pass through.

From the Embassy Room stage where he had proclaimed victory, Kennedy was led by the hand by a hotel employe to the place where Sirhan was standing.

The employe, an assistant maitre d', said the kitchen passage was due to a last minute change of mind, that earlier Kennedy had been expected to go downstairs to address a group unable to get into the main ballroom. The employe did not say why the plan was changed.

Henry Adrian Carreon, an elementary school playground director and police science major at East Los Angeles College, testified he and a friend, David Montellano, were target-shooting about noon June 4 on the San Gabriel Valley Gun Club's pistol range.

"To the left of us there was an individual around five feet away, shooting very rapidly on the range with a revolver," said Carreon. "On the range you are supposed to shoot and pause. Usually the range officer goes up to the individual shooting in this manner and he will inform them that it's not supposed to be done. . ."

Carreon identified the individual from photos as Sirhan.

Asked twice. Sirhan identified his revolver as an Iver Johnson, Carreon said.

Carreon said Montellano noticed that Sirhan had one box of bullets set aside from his others and asked Sirhan, "Isn't that a special type of bullet?"

The bullet, said Carreon, is called "the mini-magnum; and this type of bullet, when it penetrates on an object, usually tears and splits out into different directions where the regular bullet of a .22 caliber goes in a hole and. . . it will come out the same size."

Carreon said Sirhan was noncommital about the bullets. Shown a gun while before the grand jury, Carreon identified it as the one he saw on the practice range.

Dr. Thomas T. Noguchi, chief medical examiner who performed a six-hour autopsy on Kennedy's body, told newsmen just after the postmortem that he found two bullets and two wounds.

She's Still Unidentified

'Jane Doe' Beats City Hall

By ROBERT POPP

Jane Doe, a barefoot blonde hippie, fought City Hall and won — won resoundingly.

And she will be on her way to Los Angeles tonight with a bus ticket and meal money provided by the police, court officials and news writers who had sought for nearly three days to learn her identity.

She was Jane Doe when she was booked into jail just before midnight Tuesday on a charge of being "a suspicious person who could not give a reasonable account of herself." And she will leave as Jane Doe. Late this morning, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff advised her the charges had been dropped.

ALONG THE way, she frustrated every effort to learn her name and address, her destination and a little about her background. She yielded not one relevant fact in nearly 72 hours.

In the end, City Hall surrendered before the impassive blonde youngster, threw up its collective hands, wished her well and decided to send her on her way.

And the hard - bitten and cynical people who have heard every kind of a hard luck story known to man, who have looked on tragedy so often that it is commonplace, took up a collection that yielded $30 to help buy the imperturbable girl a bus ticket to St. Louis and provide her with several meals along the way.

When she was picked up Tuesday night, she told police: "I have as much right to be in this town as anyone else." She maintained that attitude throughout, although she was questioned and reasoned with by virtually every member of the police department, the judge, a nurse, a priest and several others. They all ran up against a blank wall.

SOME OF the officers called her "Susy" for lack of a better name. On the record she was Jane Doe, an unidentified female.

The best guess is that her age is 16, possibly 17 at the most. She is wearing a hip-length blue jacket, green flowered shorts and a blue blouse. Her tawny blond hair hangs nearly to her shoulders. Her feet were bare and covered with a thick accumulation of grime

Harriman Issues Warning

West Says Rocket Raids Could Ruin Peace Talks

Retaliation By U.S. Held As Possible

Western Diplomats Believe Viet Cong Will Spare Saigon

PARIS (AP) — A sustained Viet Cong rocket offensive against the heart of Saigon could wreck the Paris peace talks in short order, Western diplomats believe.

For that reason they think the Communists may not bombard the city as they have threatened to do.

U.S. officials said they hoped the North Vietnamese would give careful consideration to the warning issued by U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman to Ambassador Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam.

Harriman declared at the Wednesday session of the Paris talks with Thuy that terror attacks on Saigon "could have the most serious consequences for these talks."

U.S. officials declined to spell out exactly what Harriman meant because only President Johnson could decide to make a major change in U.S. military-diplomatic strategy.

But knowledgeable diplomats familiar with the U.S. view of the situation said many more rocket assaults like those earlier this week, when explosives rained on the center of the city, would force Johnson to consider retaliatory action against the North and suspension of the talks. Expanded bombing of the North by itself could provoke a North Vietnamese decision to suspend the talks.

American officials were reported uncertain about what action to expect from the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces in South Vietnam. Their heavy bombardment of the city early this week was not immediately followed by more massive blows, but the clandestine Communist radio in South Vietnam threatened that a 100-day bombardment would be started Monday.

U.S. officials in Saigon doubted that the Communists could maintain a heavy bombardment of the city over many days. But in the war-scarred city of three million people thousands were packing sandbags to give themselves some protection.

In Washington, South Vietnamese Ambassador Bui Diem said the Communists have been trying to shake the confidence of the Saigonese in their government. To well informed diplomats here it appeared they have been trying to win some spectacular victory, military or political, which would reinforce their bargaining position with the United States in Paris.

GIs Uncover 32 Rockets In Saigon Area

Kill 26 Guerrillas As Cong Fire Four Missiles At Airbase

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. soldiers scouring Saigon's rocket belt Thursday found 32 enemy missiles and killed 26 guerrillas. But despite the 12,000 allied troops combing the area, the Viet Cong fired four rockets into Tan Son Nhut airbase, killing one American and damaging a plane.

Saigon itself escaped attack for the third straight day.

The biggest cache of rockets was found by men of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division six miles northeast of the capital. They uncovered and destroyed 22 rounds of 107mm Chinese rockets, which made their first appearance in the Vietnam war last February.

Troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division accounted for 10 of the big 122mm Soviet rockets with which the Viet Cong has been blasting at Saigon since May 5. Nine were found in four sampans submerged in a canal nine miles northwest of Saigon, and the 10th was located at a firing site five miles northwest of the capital.

The 26 guerrillas were killed in two clashes, and six U.S. soldiers were wounded.

In addition to the thousands of allied troops searching in a radius of seven miles around the capital, the distance from which the big enemy rockets can hit the city, more radar equipment reportedly has been installed to pinpoint the enemy launching sites for counterfire.

Truckers In Walkout At Facility Of Airco

Thirty truck drivers from Teamsters Local 92 walked off their jobs Thursday at Airco Industrial Gases in Hancock County.

Teamster officials said the walkout was authorized after a vote Thursday when a new contract offer over wages was rejected.

Pickets were set up and most of the company's fleet of trucks are stranded beside the gate. The oxygen facility located near Waterford Park race track, is the only plant affected by the walkout.

Airco officials are expected to release a statement later today.

10 Missing In Minnesota

Tornado Kills 10, Rips 300 Homes

TRACY, Minn. (AP)—A tornado roared through Tracy with death and destruction Thursday evening, killing at least 10 persons and wrecking up to 300 homes.

More than a dozen persons were missing, and more than 20 were hospitalized.

Seven bodies were recovered in the dark hours following the powerful twister, and three were discovered this morning as National Guardsmen and Civil Defense workers began search and cleanup operations.

The bodies found after daybreak included that of a man found near town in an open field, near his car, and two persons in another vehicle.

Some of the demolished homes, nearly half the dwelings in the community, had vanished except for their concrete front steps and foundations. Some homes had plumbing intact, but little else. Two boxcars lifted from railroad tracks had blown over rooftops and smashed down three blocks away in the area of destruction, so cluttered it resembled a large junkyard.

Streets were bulldozed of debris, to permit workmen to get through. Tracy's mayor ordered the town sealed off from sightseers, with entry permits granted to persons with valid reasons to be in Tracy.

The Tracy hospital said 72 persons were admitted and 22 remained overnight. Eleven were listed in critical condition.

The twister, powered two miles through this town of 2,800 in Minnesota's southwestern farmland. It ravaged a block-and-a-half wide path, then skirted into the countryside, clawing an occasional farm building before it dissipated five miles out of town.

Tracy was without electric power water and phone service for several hours. The hospital was operating on emergency generators.

Water was brought by tank trucks from nearby Marshall and Slayton.

The death toll would probably have gone much higher if the town hadn't been warned by a farmer, who telephoned the volunteer fire department as the twister approached eight miles to the southwest. The town siren wailed in the early, eerie dusk.

Details Set For Pottery Event

The "World Wide Pottery Olympics" to be held as part of the Tri - State Pottery Festival next Saturday will feature seven events, Robert Stewart, chairman of the competition, has announced.

Representatives of area ware concerns will have teams in the contests to be conducted at the First National Bank Drive-In lot along E. 4th St.

Each event will have four or more employes from each company. A minimum of four is needed for each event, Stewart said. Colored ribbons will be furnished as identification for the teams. Trophies will be awarded winners.

The events include:

PLATTER RELAY

Each man runs four laps around the parking lot and on the fourth lap passes a turkey platter to a teammate. The team whose fourth runner finishes first, wins.

DISCUS (PLATE TOSS)

Plates are sailed at a three-foot diameter hoop from 30 feet. Each contestant gets five chances, and the team with the most plates through the hoop wins.

Contestants, running backwards over a figure eight track carrying 3 saucers and 3 cups stacked alternately, make one lap each then pass the ware to a teammate. If the pottery is dropped, the contestant must run forward to the starting line for a new supply. The first team to successfully finish all its laps wins.

CUP TOSS

Each team member receives five cups to throw into a 2-foot

U.S. Casualty List Mounts During Talks

May Top 250,000 In '68 If There's No Truce Or Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Total U.S. Vietnam casualties, mounting relentlessly during the Paris talks, could top a quarter of a million by year's end unless there is a truce or peace.

American combat deaths and wounds serious enough to require hospital treatment could surge beyond the Korean War toll.

These trends are indicated by an analysis of statistics which underscore the impact of the Viet Cong-North Vietnamese offensives, and Hanoi's fight-and-talk strategy.

U.S. and South Vietnamese battle casualties so far this year are running at about double last year's rate.

The latest figures show, too, that the United States sustained 13,371 battle casualties in the first four weeks after U.S.-North Vietnamese negotiations opened in Paris on May 10.

According to an updated count, U.S. combat casualties reached 177,716 as of June 8. This covers a nearly 7½-year period that started Jan. 1, 1961, when the United States had only a few hundred advisers in South Vietnam. Now there are about 533,000 Americans there.

This cumulative total breaks down into 24,744 killed, 80,541 wounded who needed hospital care, and 72,431 who suffered lesser wounds and didn't have to be hospitalized.

The number of U.S. dead and wounded averaged out to 2,692 a week over the first 23 weeks this year—twice the 1,372 weekly average in 1967.

'Open Heart' Surgery Aids Serviceman

A Summitville serviceman is recuperating from open heart surgery in Walter Reed Hospital at Washington, D. C. necessitated as the result of wounds suffered in Vietnam.

Army Pfc. John M. Pierson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Pierson of Summitville, was operated on June 6. He was wounded Feb. 24.

His parents, who have returned after a visit with him, said their son is recovering rapidly and is expected home on a convalescent leave soon.

Football Coach Issue Grows

City Teachers Criticize 'Preferential Treatment'

A grievance petition signed by 33 East Liverpool High School teachers against what is claimed to be "preferential" treatment for football coach Robert McNea is moving up through administrative channels toward the board of education.

Nine were found in four sampans submerged in a canal nine miles northwest of Saigon, and the 10th was located at a firing site five miles northwest of the capital.

The 26 guerrillas were killed in two clashes, and six U.S. soldiers were wounded.

In addition to the thousands of allied troops searching in a radius of seven miles around the capital, the distance from which the big enemy rockets can hit the city, more radar equipment reportedly has been installed to pinpoint the enemy launching sites for counterfire.

Truckers In Walkout At Facility Of Airco

Thirty truck drivers from Teamsters Local 92 walked off their jobs Thursday at Airco Industrial Gases in Hancock County.

Teamster officials said the walkout was authorized after a vote Thursday when a new contract offer over wages was rejected.

Pickets were set up and most of the company's fleet of trucks are stranded beside the gate. The oxygen facility located near Waterford Park race track, is the only plant affected by the walkout.

Airco officials are expected to release a statement later today.

10 Missing In Minnesota

Tornado Kills 10, Rips 300 Homes

TRACY, Minn. (AP)—A tornado roared through Tracy with death and destruction Thursday evening, killing at least 10 persons and wrecking up to 300 homes.

More than a dozen persons were missing, and more than 20 were hospitalized.

Seven bodies were recovered in the dark hours following the powerful twister, and three were discovered this morning as National Guardsmen and Civil Defense workers began search and cleanup operations.

The bodies found after daybreak included that of a man found near town in an open field, near his car, and two persons in another vehicle.

Some of the demolished homes, nearly half the dwelings in the community, had vanished except for their concrete front steps and foundations. Some homes had plumbing intact, but little else. Two boxcars lifted from railroad tracks had blown over rooftops and smashed down three blocks away in the area of destruction, so cluttered it resembled a large junkyard.

Streets were bulldozed of debris, to permit workmen to get through. Tracy's mayor ordered the town sealed off from sightseers, with entry permits granted to persons with valid reasons to be in Tracy.

The Tracy hospital said 72 persons were admitted and 22 remained overnight. Eleven were listed in critical condition.

The twister, powered two miles through this town of 2,800 in Minnesota's southwestern farmland. It ravaged a block-and-a-half wide path, then skirted into the countryside, clawing an occasional farm building before it dissipated five miles out of town.

Tracy was without electric power water and phone service for several hours. The hospital was operating on emergency generators.

Water was brought by tank trucks from nearby Marshall and Slayton.

The death toll would probably have gone much higher if the town hadn't been warned by a farmer, who telephoned the volunteer fire department as the twister approached eight miles to the southwest. The town siren wailed in the early, eerie dusk.

Details Set For Pottery Event

The "World Wide Pottery Olympics" to be held as part of the Tri - State Pottery Festival next Saturday will feature seven events, Robert Stewart, chairman of the competition, has announced.

Representatives of area ware concerns will have teams in the contests to be conducted at the First National Bank Drive-In lot along E. 4th St.

Each event will have four or more employes from each company. A minimum of four is needed for each event, Stewart said. Colored ribbons will be furnished as identification for the teams. Trophies will be awarded winners.

The events include:

PLATTER RELAY

Each man runs four laps around the parking lot and on the fourth lap passes a turkey platter to a teammate. The team whose fourth runner finishes first, wins.

DISCUS (PLATE TOSS)

Plates are sailed at a three-foot diameter hoop from 30 feet. Each contestant gets five chances, and the team with the most plates through the hoop wins.

Contestants, running backwards over a figure eight track carrying 3 saucers and 3 cups stacked alternately, make one lap each then pass the ware to a teammate. If the pottery is dropped, the contestant must run forward to the starting line for a new supply. The first team to successfully finish all its laps wins.

CUP TOSS

Each team member receives five cups to throw into a 2-foot

U.S. Casualty List Mounts During Talks

May Top 250,000 In '68 If There's No Truce Or Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Total U.S. Vietnam casualties, mounting relentlessly during the Paris talks, could top a quarter of a million by year's end unless there is a truce or peace.

American combat deaths and wounds serious enough to require hospital treatment could surge beyond the Korean War toll.

These trends are indicated by an analysis of statistics which underscore the impact of the Viet Cong-North Vietnamese offensives, and Hanoi's fight-and-talk strategy.

U.S. and South Vietnamese battle casualties so far this year are running at about double last year's rate.

The latest figures show, too, that the United States sustained 13,371 battle casualties in the first four weeks after U.S.-North Vietnamese negotiations opened in Paris on May 10.

According to an updated count, U.S. combat casualties reached 177,716 as of June 8. This covers a nearly 7½-year period that started Jan. 1, 1961, when the United States had only a few hundred advisers in South Vietnam. Now there are about 533,000 Americans there.

This cumulative total breaks down into 24,744 killed, 80,541 wounded who needed hospital care, and 72,431 who suffered lesser wounds and didn't have to be hospitalized.

The number of U.S. dead and wounded averaged out to 2,692 a week over the first 23 weeks this year—twice the 1,372 weekly average in 1967.

'Open Heart' Surgery Aids Serviceman

A Summitville serviceman is recuperating from open heart surgery in Walter Reed Hospital at Washington, D. C. necessitated as the result of wounds suffered in Vietnam.

Army Pfc. John M. Pierson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Pierson of Summitville, was operated on June 6. He was wounded Feb. 24.

His parents, who have returned after a visit with him, said their son is recovering rapidly and is expected home on a convalescent leave soon.

Jane Doe

when she was taken before the judge today.

As a parting gesture, police offered to furnish her with a pair of shoes.

"I won't wear them," she said.

City officials decided they could not refer the girl to juvenile authorities at Lisbon because they had no way of proving whether or not she was under 18. And they didn't seek help from the welfare department, which cannot dispense aid to an anonymous client.

Police officials and the judge decided on one last try at breaking the girl's reserve before releasing her this morning. She won hands down. The girl was taken to the judge's chamber, along with a crowd of police officials, to allow Chertoff to talk to her again in a fatherly tone. He got nowhere.

First, Solicitor J. Michael Kapp related the background of the case to the judge and moved for dismissal of the charge of "suspicion." The judge complied.

Kapp said every effort at identifying the girl was baffling. For a time yesterday, he thought he had a clue in a matchbook cover from a Bedford, Pa., motel which the girl was carrying. But that ran into a dead-end. She had no identification — only road maps, trinkets and what police called "junk."

"You're free to go anywhere whenever you want," the judge told the girl. Then he offered the city's help in getting her to her destination.

Speaking haltingly, the girl said she wanted no help.

"The next place you go, you're liable to run into the same thing all over again," the judge warned.

HE FINALLY persuaded her to name her destination. She said she wanted to go to Long Beach or Los Angeles. But the conversation was almost entirely one sided. The girl remained mute to most questions. When she answered, it was usually with a shake or a nod of her head. But she indicated she's a hippie type. "It's my life," she said.

After another attempt to break the girl's reserve, the judge told police: "Release her, let her go anywhere she wishes. We've tried, but we cannot do anything for her."

Remembering the girl's remark that she wanted to go to the west coast, the judge placed to go to Wheeling. There she "Use that to help buy her a bus ticket—get her along the way as far as you can."

The solicitor added a $5 of his own and took over the task of collecting money for the girl's fare. Two reporters chipped in a couple of dollars. More and more money was added to the pile, from Chief A. J. Radeschi, Bailiff Louis Yanni, Court Clerk Wilbur Harmon and Mrs. Phyllis Stewart and Mrs. Helen Steffen, who are on the court staff.

"When you get settled down somewhere drop us a letter and let us know how you are getting along," the chief said to her.

"I will," Jane Doe said. She will board a bus at 11:25 tonight to go to Sheeling. There she will get on a transcontinental bus with her fare paid to St. Louis.

Hunt Pressed For 2 Men On Missing Plane

A search is under way today for two Monaca, Pa., men, one the estranged husband of an East Liverpool woman, who have been missing since their single engine plane took off Monday night from the Beaver County Airport.

The two identified by the 9th District Coast Guard headquarters at Cleveland as Russell Simmons, about 43, and Walter King, 33, were believed headed for Put-in-Bay, an island in Lake Erie off Sandusky.

Simmons is the former husband of Mrs. Sylvia Simmons of 1257 Erie St. and the father of Kathy Simmons, 12, Dale Simmons, 19, Charles (Pat) Simmons, 18, and Ronald Simmons, 14, who reside with their mother. Another daughter, Mrs. Carol Hubbard, 20, lives at 5th and Commerce Sts., Wellsville.

The two left Monday night about 8 in Simmons' private plane. Acquaintances were told they were going to fly to Put-in-Bay and return the same night.

Authorities said they did not file a flight plan. Simmons is described as an experienced pilot who has been flying for several years.

The family said Simmons was in a plane crash about 11 years ago, narrowly escaping death.

2-Way Crash Hurts Woman

A 36-year-old district woman suffered minor injuries Thursday afternoon in a two - car crash on E. 3rd St. at the approach to the Chester Bridge, police reported.

Mrs. Bonita C. Maltarich of Stagecoach Rd. suffered a bumped head and nose in a collision between a 1964 sedan driven by Robert G. Parfitt, 17, also of Stagecoach Rd., and a 1966 model station wagon driven by Chalmers Harbison, 43, of Oakdale, Pa.

Parfitt was driving an auto registered to Mrs. Maltarich and her husband, Lee. The collision damaged the left front fender of each auto. It was timed at 3:39.

Harbison told officers he was lighting a cigar as he drove off the bridge and swung too wide on a curve, hitting the Maltarich auto.

Meanwhile, a 1968 model vehicle owned by M. and A. Motors and used by the high school athletic department was damaged Tuesday night or early Wednesday while parked on a lot at the Memorial Auditorium on E. 4th St., police were told.

Clifford Lynch, high school principal, told police there was a deep scratch in the left side of the vehicle. The damage was discovered when the auto was taken to M. & A. Motors to be washed and serviced, he related.

$5,000, with the contents loss $1,000.

No one was in the building, occupied and owned by Frank Harris, operator of the tavern, when 10 men and two trucks of the Wellsville volunteer department arrived at 9:43.

Fire Chief Robert Lewis said the fire was brought under control about 10:30 after the roof area had been gutted, two second-floor bedrooms had been damaged heavily and two more bedrooms on the first story received fire and water damage.

The volunteers, assisted by seven men and a pumper from Irondale, remained on the scene another hour extinguishing small fires which broke out in concealed areas shut off to facilitate remodeling.

Firemen were called back to the building twice during the night to combat the subsequent fires, Lewis reported.

The tavern was not damaged, he said.

Lawrence Martin of Irondale RD 1 was treated at City Hospital at 12:30 a. m. today for injuries received, according to Irondale Police Chief Robert Miller, when Martin was forcibly removed from the Waterford Downs tavern after the adjacent building caught fire.

Martin suffered abrasions and contusions of the face and a cut lip.

Jane Doe

when she was taken before the judge today.

As a parting gesture, police offered to furnish her with a pair of shoes.

"I won't wear them,' she said.

City officials decided they could not refer the girl to juvenile authorities at Lisbon because they had no way of proving whether or not she was under 18. And they didn't seek help from the welfare department, which cannot dispense aid to an anonymous client.

Police officials and the judge decided on one last try at breaking the girl's reserve before releasing her this morning. She won hands down. The girl was taken to the judge's chamber, along with a crowd of police officials, to allow Chertoff to talk to her again in a fatherly tone. He got nowhere.

First, Solicitor J. Michael Kapp related the background of the case to the judge and moved for dismissal of the charge of "suspicion." The judge complied.

Kapp said every effort at identifying the girl was baffling. For a time yesterday, he thought he had a clue in a matchbook cover from a Bedford, Pa., motel which the girl was carrying. But that ran into a dead-end. She had no identification — only road maps, trinkets and what police called "junk."

"You're free to go anywhere whenever you want," the judge told the girl. Then he offered the city's help in getting her to her destination.

Speaking haltingly, the girl said she wanted no help.

"The next place you go, you're liable to run into the same thing all over again," the judge warned.

HE FINALLY persuaded her to name her destination. She said she wanted to go to Long Beach or Los Angeles. But the conversation was almost entirely one sided. The girl remained mute to most questions. When she answered, it was usually with a shake or a nod of her head. But she indicated she's a hippie type. "It's my life," she said.

After another attempt to break the girl's reserve, the judge told police: "Release her, let her go anywhere she wishes. We've tried, but we cannot do anything for her."

Remembering the girl's remark that she wanted to go to the west coast, the judge placed to go to Wheeling. There she "Use that to help buy her a bus ticket—get her along the way as far as you can."

The solicitor added a $5 of his own and took over the task of collecting money for the girl's fare. Two reporters chipped in a couple of dollars. More and more money was added to the pile, from Chief A. J. Radeschi, Bailiff Louis Yanni, Court Clerk Wilbur Harmon and Mrs. Phyllis Stewart and Mrs. Helen Steffen, who are on the court staff.

"When you get settled down somewhere drop us a letter and let us know how you are getting along," the chief said to her.

"I will," Jane Doe said. She will board a bus at 11:25 tonight to go to Sheeling. There she will get on a transcontinental bus with her fare paid to St. Louis.

Hunt Pressed For 2 Men On Missing Plane

A search is under way today for two Monaca, Pa., men, one the estranged husband of an East Liverpool woman, who have been missing since their single engine plane took off Monday night from the Beaver County Airport.

The two identified by the 9th District Coast Guard headquarters at Cleveland as Russell Simmons, about 43, and Walter King, 33, were believed headed for Put-in-Bay, an island in Lake Erie off Sandusky.

Simmons is the former husband of Mrs. Sylvia Simmons of 1257 Erie St. and the father of Kathy Simmons, 12, Dale Simmons, 19, Charles (Pat) Simmons, 18, and Ronald Simmons, 14, who reside with their mother. Another daughter, Mrs. Carol Hubbard, 20, lives at 5th and Commerce Sts., Wellsville.

The two left Monday night about 8 in Simmons' private plane. Acquaintances were told they were going to fly to Put-in-Bay and return the same night.

Authorities said they did not file a flight plan. Simmons is described as an experienced pilot who has been flying for several years.

The family said Simmons was in a plane crash about 11 years ago, narrowly escaping death.

Wilhelm presented a program on the flag. Mrs. Myrtle McPherson participated.

2-Way Crash Hurts Woman

A 36-year-old district woman suffered minor injuries Thursday afternoon in a two - car crash on E. 3rd St. at the approach to the Chester Bridge, police reported.

Mrs. Bonita C. Maltarich of Stagecoach Rd. suffered a bumped head and nose in a collision between a 1964 sedan driven by Robert G. Parfitt, 17, also of Stagecoach Rd., and a 1966 model station wagon driven by Chalmers Harbison, 43, of Oakdale, Pa.

Parfitt was driving an auto registered to Mrs. Maltarich and her husband, Lee. The collision damaged the left front fender of each auto. It was timed at 3:39.

Harbison told officers he was lighting a cigar as he drove off the bridge and swung too wide on a curve, hitting the Maltarich auto.

Meanwhile, a 1968 model vehicle owned by M. and A. Motors and used by the high school athletic department was damaged Tuesday night or early Wednesday while parked on a lot at the Memorial Auditorium on E. 4th St., police were told.

Clifford Lynch, high school principal, told police there was a deep scratch in the left side of the vehicle. The damage was discovered when the auto was taken to M. & A. Motors to be washed and serviced, he related.

$5,000, with the contents loss $1,000.

No one was in the building, occupied and owned by Frank Harris, operator of the tavern, when 10 men and two trucks of the Wellsville volunteer department arrived at 9:43.

Fire Chief Robert Lewis said the fire was brought under control about 10:30 after the roof area had been gutted, two second-floor bedrooms had been damaged heavily and two more bedrooms on the first story received fire and water damage.

The volunteers, assisted by seven men and a pumper from Irondale, remained on the scene another hour extinguishing small fires which broke out in concealed areas shut off to facilitate remodeling.

Firemen were called back to the building twice during the night to combat the subsequent fires, Lewis reported.

The tavern was not damaged, he said.

Lawrence Martin of Irondale RD 1 was treated at City Hospital at 12:30 a. m. today for injuries received, according to Irondale Police Chief Robert Miller, when Martin was forcibly removed from the Waterford Downs tavern after the adjacent building caught fire.

Martin suffered abrasions and contusions of the face and a cut lip.

Berlin Curtain Drops Again

The Communist world, which thrives on disorder, confusion and agitation, apparently has decided it is time to kick up a fuss in Germany again.

So, shortly after Soviet-East German summit talks in Moscow, the East Germans have placed new restrictions on West Germans traveling to Berlin. They also have announced increases in overland transit fees and freight taxes.

They have measurably lowered the Iron Curtain again.

The East Germans, for the record, claim the restrictions are necessary due to the increase in neo-Nazism and revenge-seeking in West Germany, and because of the passage of the new state of emergency laws in West Germany.

REGARDLESS of the cause, the East Germans already have succeeded in upsetting West Germany and the Western allies in Berlin. The situation is being described as the most serious threat to access to West Berlin since the Berlin Blockade in 1948-49.

A high U. S. official has described it as a "serious situation," declaring that "such a change from the present pattern cannot be tolerated."

What the real motive is for the sudden imposition of the new restrictions may not be recognized at once. Several are possible.

One is that Russia and its more subservient satellites, such as East Germany under Walter Ulbricht, are greatly disturbed by the liberalization moves toward social democratization in Czechoslovakia and to a lesser degree in some of the other satellites.

Fearful of the "contaminating" influence of the West, the decision may have been made to reduce contact with the West by the restrictions.

Another possibility is predicted on the fact that the Communists have not, as yet, been successful in taking over France as they hoped to do following the expected fall of De Gaulle.

So, having fermented strife and riots in Italy, at France's back door, they now have decided to create a crisis in Germany, another neighbor of France. Suddenly confronted with problems of their own, neither Italy nor Germany would be able to offer as much support, moral or otherwise, to France.

Regardless of whether the Reds are worried about the ferment within their own people's paradise and are retreating from world contact into greater isolationism, or whether they are playing one card after another in an effort to win the whole pot, their actions are upsetting to world order.

THIS IS NOT NEW — in fact is is the Communists' standard method of operation.

But once again it will require counteraction by the Free World nations. It will require strategy, patience and forbearance and money, along with firmness, until all of the world clearly and unmistakably understands the Communist purpose and motivation.

It would help if the Free World were smart enough and united enough to create some real problems for the Communists to worry about.

Reaction Goes Astray

Reaction to unpleasant and tragic events too often goes too far and in the wrong direction. In a frantic effort to prevent a recurrence of the tragedy, and in the desire to do "something," rash and unreasonable acts are perpetrated.

These excessive reactions, in turn, hurt others to various degrees.

For example, a newspaper in North Carolina has canceled its Dick Tracy and Little Orphan Annie comic strips following the assassination of Robert Kennedy because it now describes the strips' contents as "constant exploitaton and advocacy—of violence."

VIOLENCE IS WITH US, it has been with us and there is little reason to believe that it will not continue to be with us during the lifetimes of those now living.

We must of course, strive to eliminate it and reduce it wherever possible. One of the methods of doing this is to make crime and violence appear unattractive.

This is done in the two comic strips. The gist of their messages is that crime doesn't pay. The heroes and the "good guys" are always the victors. A young reader, or an old one for that matter, hardly could want to emulate the "bad guys" of the comic strips for they always get their just deserts.

It would seem that the two strips' basic theme is to educate away from crime.

On the other hand, some of the other elements of the communications media present sex and even pornography in such a way as to make it attractive, exciting and appealing to readers and viewers. This, in turn, can and does lead to crimes of passion and violence.

The major difference is which way the media influences its readers or viewer — toward or against a life of violence.

The two comic strips have been around a long time. The North Carolina paper published Little Orphan Annie continuously since 1926 and Dick Tracy since 1939.

TO CANCEL THEM NOW, for the reason stated, seems a head-in-the-sand attitude. They hardly seem accountable, even in a small way, for the nation's current tragedy.

Certainly the North Carolina newspaper could do something more realistic to combat the tolerance of violence in America.

To be more blunt, the newspaper's action verges on the ridiculous.

Letters To The Editor

Grid Stand Explained

(James Render, East Liverpool assistant football coach recently given a leave of absence to study, wrote a letter to The Review which was withheld earlier this week because of indications he did not want it published after Robert McNea grid coach, and three aides, withdrew resignations.

The Review was unable to confirm his intent because he was out of town. However, when contacted Thursday, Render said he wanted the letter printed for three reasons: Many friends wanted to see the letter and urged him to have it in the newspaper, the negotiating committee of the ELTA, under McConnell "will not let this matter be a closed issue," and the statement issued by the ELTA board of directors does not represent the opinion of all the ELTA membership.)

Bob McNea and his football coaching staff have resigned. A "no reason" explanation was given by the administration. Of course, there is a reason and I am going to explain it in this letter.

I am sure many people have thought that Coach McNea wants more money or that he wants a long term contract or some other such personal benefit. Nothing could be further from the truth. What he and the staff want is simply to coach and teach at E.L.H.S. and to be evaluated by the Board of Education and the men they hire as administrators.

Instead, the Board and Administrators have agreed to let an East Liverpool Teacher's Association negotiations committee draw up an extra curricular activities pay scale. Herein lies the problem. The football staff has no representation on this committee. In fact, it is made up of the most anti-football group in East Liverpool.

It is a known fact that every school system has those teachers which are opposed to football. But to let them determine the salaries of a football staff which has been very successful is not sound thinking. The committee is headed by the Association President, Mr. Clinton McConnell, who also serves as basketball coach. This man's past performance chart speaks for itself. He was not rehired at Ashtabula Edgewood or at New Concord, Ohio. I have had three college coaches call me and ask if this McConnell was for real. McConnell feels that the football coaches should not get a $100 for 2½ weeks work before school starts. Our day starts at 7:30 a.m. and ends around 10:00 p.m.

His right arm on this committee is Mrs. Gyla Nicely. She has been a virtual czar at East Junior High in my 3 years in East Liverpool. She also has controlled the E.L.T.A. She has been an outspoken critic of football. Gyla feels that not many people get upset over whether McNea coaches or not.

Two English teachers, Jim Martin and H. Keith Langdon, also serve on this committee. I am not qualified to judge their ability in producing Thespian productions, and they are not qualified to judge mine as a football coach. Langdon openly stated that he felt the basketball coach should make more money than the football coach. These people are the backbone of the committee.

I do not think I have to list McNea's qualification for this job. I will say this, however, I have played for Ara Parseghian, Bill Edwards, who is past Head Coach of the Detroit Lions, Vanderbilt University, and collegiate coach of the year twice at Wittenberg University, and Dick Haines, who will serve as head coach of the South All-Star team in Canton this summer, and I feel qualified in saying that McNea is nonpareil in Ohio high school football. His football knowledge is second to none.

McNea came to this town because East Liverpool people, on the recommendation of Bob Gibson, asked him to come here, and convinced him that a good football program could be a reality. McNea and the program are about to exit because of a rabble rouser who came to town begging for a chance to work here, and who now wants to be a vital part of all policy making decisions.

The fine boys who comprise our football team want McNea and his staff to stay. The fans I have talked with want McNea and his staff to stay. When the Board and the Administration state these items as items not to be negotiated, by this committee, they will stay.

Odd Facts

Probably the world's first dictionary was published by Hu Shin of China in 150 B. C. It contained 10,000 characters. The first dictionary published in the U. S. was "The Royal Standard English Dictionary, the First American Dictionary," by William Perry, lecturer at the Academy of Edinburgh, Scotland. It was printed in 1788 in Worcester, Mass.

'Can I Give You A Lift, Cherie?'

VICTOR RIESEL

Fighting Ghetto Theorists

NEW YORK — Out of the office of the harassed principal of the ghetto school over on old Henry Street walked a Negro lad who had been slugging other kids.

Victor Riesel

The script ran all the gamuts. The youngster's father had been rampaging, the wife had been in terror, the boy bewildered. He began throwing fists at his schoolmates. Up to the principal went the kid, the school counselors, et al., as though some Solomonic wisdom could be found in the head office. They talked. The boy listened. They left.

Then the principal of Manhattan's Intermediary School 56, Henry Seideman, told another caller:

"We work day and night trying to help all of them. Then along comes a tough extremist group, terrorizing the entire neighborhood and all its decent families, and they kick us out because we teachers and principals are white."

There was nothing bitter in Mr. Seideman's voice. Nor was there terror either. Just decisiveness. A stand had to be made. The time had come to be candid.

The hour was late in this crisis, but not later than anyone any longer thinks.

Mr. Seideman, president of his district's Principals' Assn., led his group into the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. The educators wanted a powerful union. And they wanted a bulwark against invading terrorists.

They wanted protection against physical assaults. And they wanted some force to fight for their rights to tenure and their jobs. No longer did they want to be at the muscled mercy of self-appointed community action groups.

SO TODAY they, now some 300 strong, are the School Supervisors chapter of Local 237, City Employes Union, Brotherhood of Teamsters.

"We have sat around observing more and more the disrespect for law and order, and more and more the assaults on those in authority," said Mr. Seideman, incisively, and with unusual bluntness. "I mean assault on us principals.

"We have befriended these communities. Suddenly after long friendship, after long hard work for these children, the community considers us enemies instead of its loyal friends. We wanted support. So we got the Teamsters."

Mr. Seideman and his aroused colleagues—school principals, assistant principals, heads of departments and supervisors—care not one whit about the color of the children they mentor.

They know that the teeming peoples of their neighborhoods are not the extremists, nor are the hard-riding, way-out flying squads the spokesmen for the Puerto Ricans, the Negroes, the Chinese or the minority whites in the districts. But the supervisory educators want the right to teach—and in peace.

At least 12, probably 14, principals now have been terrorized out of their positions. They wander around, doing substitute tasks or make-work paper shuffling in the central offices.

ONE BROOKLYN PRINICPAL John O'Connell now has four stitches inside his mouth. A "community committee" walked in on him and hit him when his back was turned.

Another principal, Milt Stier, went through all the proper channels to obtain his job. He passed his exams. Then he was interviewed by the Parents Organization in his ghetto area. And then by the school board and the superintendent. He was appointed after getting everybody's approval. Then in came eight militants. They said, you're out. You don't understand our kids. He was out.

At that point, Mr. Seideman decided the time had come for the Teamsters.

They were welcomed.

"They approached us and we took them in," says 33-year-old Barry Feinstein, Local 237 president. "We decided to take them for basic reasons. They are in our jurisdiction. But more important, there are the moral issues.

"Control just doesn't rest anywhere anymore. The Board of Education has wiped out whatever substantive controls the principals have had. And we believe that the principals and their assistants must have something to say about the teaching of the children in their schools. We must get the school system returned to the educators."

Most definitely there are also swift currents of anti-Semitism here. "Time now certainly has come to air it for it reeks of the Third Reich," one principal said.

THIS WAS SUBSTANTIATED by the embattled Al Shanker, president of the AFL-CIO' largest local union, this city's 55,000-member United Federation of Teachers.

Lanky Al Shanker, not easily infuriated, made it clear, put it on the line, pulled no punches for he said the time is long over for drawing curtains over the school system.

He pointed to a publication of the African-American Teachers Assn., the Forum, which ran an article he said was reminiscent of the Third Reich. Jewish teachers were assailed in terms which could have come out of Der Stuermer. Negroes who joined their white colleagues in fighting back are denounced as "Black Angelo-Saxon collaborators." It's all there in print, in black and white.

Violence is not indivisible. Its sepulchral stench rises from many cultural swamps into a mushroom cloud far more explosive than the atomic toy.

The time has come, it seems to me, for a return of the age of reason.

Berry's World

"The trouble is, these kooks are getting too much publicity!"

DAVID LAWRENCE

Vital Prints

The most amazing thing about the capture in London of James Earl Ray, suspected assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., is the tremendous amount of work that had to be done in order to accomplish this.

"Fingerprints," a much-used but little-understood word, were the key, and few people realize what an enormous task was involved in identifying the suspected killer of Dr. King.

Latent prints found on items near the scene of the King shooting on April 4 were not clear enough or complete enough to enable an identification to be made from fingerprints on file with the FBI.

THE BREAK in the Ray case came 10 days after the shooting of Dr. King, when the FBI located a rooming house in Atlanta where the suspect, then known as Eric Starvo Galt, had stayed and where he had left some papers. Included in these were maps, on one of which there was a clear print of one finger. But this was enough for the FBI, even though there are more than 188 million cards in its fingerprint files representing nearly 82 million individuals.

To narrow the search, the FBI made certain assumptions on the basis of what was known about the suspected killer, including the likelihood that the man sought was a fugitive from justice, and the identity cards of nearly 2,000 fugitives were then subjected to an "eyeball" search by the FBI identification experts.

Within a few hours, it was determined that the print belonged to James Earl Ray, who was found to have more than a dozen sets of fingerprints in FBI files. Copies of Ray's prints were sent to police agencies abroad. When he was picked up in London, fingerprints definitely identified him as the wanted man.

Fingerprinting is regarded as the only foolproof system of identification. No two persons have identical prints. The appearance of an individual can be changed — hair can be dyed, eyeglasses worn, teeth pulled, mustaches or beards grown or shaven.

But the pattern of fingerprints cannot be altered. It runs through layer after layer of skin, and, though it can be temporarily hidden by the removal of the flesh at the ends of the fingers or by burning them with acid, the same ridges will reappear as the scars heal.

Fingerprints as a means of identification goes back hundreds of years. Chinese documents of the eighth century refer to fingerprints being impressed upon business contracts.

The first authenticated record of official use of fingerprints in the United States occurred in 1882, when a man in charge of a field project of the U.S. geological survey working in New Mexico put his own print on commissary orders to prevent their forgery.

It was in 1902 that the New York Civil Service Commission began the first known systematic use of fingerprints in the United States. Police and prisons quickly picked up the method for indentification of criminals, and the same system was adopted in 1905 by the United States Army.

In 1924, the Identification Division of the FBI consolidated fingerprinting records from all the various agencies, including many not concerned with law enforcement or criminals. The international exchange of fingerprint data was initiated in 1932.

Once an individual's fingerprints are on file, his identity can be determined no matter how many aliases he uses or physical changes he may make. Thus, James Earl Ray assumed different names and disguises, and carried fraudulent identification as he moved around from country to country. There was, however, no way by which he could change his fingerprints.

THE BIG QUESTION now is where Ray got the money for his trips and the various documents he used in traveling under assumed identities.

The suspicion is growing that he may have had accomplices in this country as well as in Canada, and the whole affair has the appearance of a planned conspiracy.

In the search for possible associates, fingerprints undoubtedly will play a major role just as they have brought about the capture of James Earl Ray, who now will be tried on a murder charge.

Berlin Curtain Drops Again

The Communist world, which thrives on disorder, confusion and agitation, apparently has decided it is time to kick up a fuss in Germany again.

So, shortly after Soviet-East German summit talks in Moscow, the East Germans have placed new restrictions on West Germans traveling to Berlin. They also have announced increases in overland transit fees and freight taxes.

They have measurably lowered the Iron Curtain again.

The East Germans, for the record, claim the restrictions are necessary due to the increase in neo-Nazism and revenge-seeking in West Germany, and because of the passage of the new state of emergency laws in West Germany.

REGARDLESS of the cause, the East Germans already have succeeded in upsetting West Germany and the Western allies in Berlin. The situation is being described as the most serious threat to access to West Berlin since the Berlin Blockade in 1948-49.

A high U. S. official has described it as a "serious situation," declaring that "such a change from the present pattern cannot be tolerated."

What the real motive is for the sudden imposition of the new restrictions may not be recognized at once. Several are possible.

One is that Russia and its more subservient satellites, such as East Germany under Walter Ulbricht, are greatly disturbed by the liberalization moves toward social democratization in Czechoslovakia and to a lesser degree in some of the other satellites.

Fearful of the "contaminating" influence of the West, the decision may have been made to reduce contact with the West by the restrictions.

Another possibility is predicted on the fact that the Communists have not, as yet, been successful in taking over France as they hoped to do following the expected fall of De Gaulle.

So, having fermented strife and riots in Italy, at France's back door, they now have decided to create a crisis in Germany, another neighbor of France. Suddenly confronted with problems of their own, neither Italy nor Germany would be able to offer as much support, moral or otherwise, to France.

Regardless of whether the Reds are worried about the ferment within their own people's paradise and are retreating from world contact into greater isolationism, or whether they are playing one card after another in an effort to win the whole pot, their actions are upsetting to world order.

THIS IS NOT NEW — in fact is is the Communists' standard method of operation.

But once again it will require counteraction by the Free World nations. It will require strategy, patience and forbearance and money, along with firmness, until all of the world clearly and unmistakably understands the Communist purpose and motivation.

It would help if the Free World were smart enough and united enough to create some real problems for the Communists to worry about.

Reaction Goes Astray

Reaction to unpleasant and tragic events too often goes too far and in the wrong direction. In a frantic effort to prevent a recurrence of the tragedy, and in the desire to do "something," rash and unreasonable acts are perpetrated.

These excessive reactions, in turn, hurt others to various degrees.

For example, a newspaper in North Carolina has canceled its Dick Tracy and Little Orphan Annie comic strips following the assassination of Robert Kennedy because it now describes the strips' contents as "constant exploitaton and advocacy—of violence."

VIOLENCE IS WITH US, it has been with us and there is little reason to believe that it will not continue to be with us during the lifetimes of those now living.

We must of course, strive to eliminate it and reduce it wherever possible. One of the methods of doing this is to make crime and violence appear unattractive.

This is done in the two comic strips. The gist of their messages is that crime doesn't pay. The heroes and the "good guys" are always the victors. A young reader, or an old one for that matter, hardly could want to emulate the "bad guys" of the comic strips for they always get their just deserts.

It would seem that the two strips' basic theme is to educate away from crime.

On the other hand, some of the other elements of the communications media present sex and even pornography in such a way as to make it attractive, exciting and appealing to readers and viewers. This, in turn, can and does lead to crimes of passion and violence.

The major difference is which way the media influences its readers or viewer — toward or against a life of violence.

The two comic strips have been around a long time. The North Carolina paper published Little Orphan Annie continuously since 1926 and Dick Tracy since 1939.

TO CANCEL THEM NOW, for the reason stated, seems a head-in-the-sand attitude. They hardly seem accountable, even in a small way, for the nation's current tragedy.

Certainly the North Carolina newspaper could do something more realistic to combat the tolerance of violence in America.

To be more blunt, the newspaper's action verges on the ridiculous.

Letters To The Editor

Grid Stand Explained

(James Render, East Liverpool assistant football coach recently given a leave of absence to study, wrote a letter to The Review which was withheld earlier this week because of indications he did not want it published after Robert McNea grid coach, and three aides, withdrew resignations.

The Review was unable to confirm his intent because he was out of town. However, when contacted Thursday, Render said he wanted the letter printed for three reasons: Many friends wanted to see the letter and urged him to have it in the newspaper, the negotiating committee of the ELTA, under McConnell "will not let this matter be a closed issue," and the statement issued by the ELTA board of directors does not represent the opinion of all the ELTA membership.)

Bob McNea and his football coaching staff have resigned. A "no reason" explanation was given by the administration. Of course, there is a reason and I am going to explain it in this letter.

I am sure many people have thought that Coach McNea wants more money or that he wants a long term contract or some other such personal benefit. Nothing could be further from the truth. What he and the staff want is simply to coach and teach at E.L.H.S. and to be evaluated by the Board of Education and the men they hire as administrators.

Instead, the Board and Administrators have agreed to let an East Liverpool Teacher's Association negotiations committee draw up an extra curricular activities pay scale. Herein lies the problem. The football staff has no representation on this committee. In fact, it is made up of the most anti-football group in East Liverpool.

It is a known fact that every school system has those teachers which are opposed to football. But to let them determine the salaries of a football staff which has been very successful is not sound thinking. The committee is headed by the Association President, Mr. Clinton McConnell, who also serves as basketball coach. This man's past performance chart speaks for itself. He was not rehired at Ashtabula Edgewood or at New Concord, Ohio. I have had three college coaches call me and ask if this McConnell was for real. McConnell feels that the football coaches should not get a $100 for 2½ weeks work before school starts. Our day starts at 7:30 a.m. and ends around 10:00 p.m.

His right arm on this committee is Mrs. Gyla Nicely. She has been a virtual czar at East Junior High in my 3 years in East Liverpool. She also has controlled the E.L.T.A. She has been an outspoken critic of football. Gyla feels that not many people get upset over whether McNea coaches or not.

Two English teachers, Jim Martin and H. Keith Langdon, also serve on this committee. I am not qualified to judge their ability in producing Thespian productions, and they are not qualified to judge mine as a football coach. Langdon openly stated that he felt the basketball coach should make more money than the football coach. These people are the backbone of the committee.

I do not think I have to list McNea's qualification for this job. I will say this, however, I have played for Ara Parseghian, Bill Edwards, who is past Head Coach of the Detroit Lions, Vanderbilt University, and collegiate coach of the year twice at Wittenberg University, and Dick Haines, who will serve as head coach of the South All-Star team in Canton this summer, and I feel qualified in saying that McNea is nonpareil in Ohio high school football. His football knowledge is second to none.

McNea came to this town because East Liverpool people, on the recommendation of Bob Gibson, asked him to come here, and convinced him that a good football program could be a reality. McNea and the program are about to exit because of a rabble rouser who came to town begging for a chance to work here, and who now wants to be a vital part of all policy making decisions.

The fine boys who comprise our football team want McNea and his staff to stay. The fans I have talked with want McNea and his staff to stay. When the Board and the Administration state these items as items not to be negotiated, by this committee, they will stay.

Probably the world's first dictionary was published by Hu Shin of China in 150 B. C. It contained 10,000 characters. The first dictionary published in the U. 'Can I Give You A Lift, Cherie?'

VICTOR RIESEL

Fighting Ghetto Theorists

NEW YORK — Out of the office of the harassed principal of the ghetto school over on old Henry Street walked a Negro lad who had been slugging other kids.

Victor Riesel

The script ran all the gamuts. The youngster's father had been rampaging, the wife had been in terror, the boy bewildered. He began throwing fists at his schoolmates. Up to the principal went the kid, the school counselors, et al., as though some Solomonic wisdom could be found in the head office. They talked. The boy listened. They left.

Then the principal of Manhattan's Intermediary School 56, Henry Seideman, told another caller:

"We work day and night trying to help all of them. Then along comes a tough extremist group, terrorizing the entire neighborhood and all its decent families, and they kick us out because we teachers and principals are white."

There was nothing bitter in Mr. Seideman's voice. Nor was there terror either. Just decisiveness. A stand had to be made. The time had come to be candid.

The hour was late in this crisis, but not later than anyone any longer thinks.

Mr. Seideman, president of his district's Principals' Assn., led his group into the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. The educators wanted a powerful union. And they wanted a bulwark against invading terrorists.

They wanted protection against physical assaults. And they wanted some force to fight for their rights to tenure and their jobs. No longer did they want to be at the muscled mercy of self-appointed community action groups.

SO TODAY they, now some 300 strong, are the School Supervisors chapter of Local 237, City Employes Union, Brotherhood of Teamsters.

"We have sat around observing more and more the disrespect for law and order, and more and more the assaults on those in authority," said Mr. Seideman, incisively, and with unusual bluntness. "I mean assault on us principals.

"We have befriended these communities. Suddenly after long friendship, after long hard work for these children, the community considers us enemies instead of its loyal friends. We wanted support. So we got the Teamsters."

Mr. Seideman and his aroused colleagues—school principals, assistant principals, heads of departments and supervisors—care not one whit about the color of the children they mentor.

They know that the teeming peoples of their neighborhoods are not the extremists, nor are the hard-riding, way-out flying squads the spokesmen for the Puerto Ricans, the Negroes, the Chinese or the minority whites in the districts. But the supervisory educators want the right to teach—and in peace.

At least 12, probably 14, principals now have been terrorized out of their positions. They wander around, doing substitute tasks or make-work paper shuffling in the central offices.

ONE BROOKLYN PRINICPAL John O'Connell now has four stitches inside his mouth. A "community committee" walked in on him and hit him when his back was turned.

Another principal, Milt Stier, went through all the proper channels to obtain his job. He passed his exams. Then he was interviewed by the Parents Organization in his ghetto area. And then by the school board and the superintendent. He was appointed after getting everybody's approval. Then in came eight militants. They said, you're out. You don't understand our kids. He was out.

At that point, Mr. Seideman decided the time had come for the Teamsters.

They were welcomed.

"They approached us and we took them in," says 33-year-old Barry Feinstein, Local 237 president. "We decided to take them for basic reasons. They are in our jurisdiction. But more important, there are the moral issues.

"Control just doesn't rest anywhere anymore. The Board of Education has wiped out whatever substantive controls the principals have had. And we believe that the principals and their assistants must have something to say about the teaching of the children in their schools. We must get the school system returned to the educators."

Most definitely there are also swift currents of anti-Semitism here. "Time now certainly has come to air it for it reeks of the Third Reich," one principal said.

THIS WAS SUBSTANTIATED by the embattled Al Shanker, president of the AFL-CIO' largest local union, this city's 55,000-member United Federation of Teachers.

Lanky Al Shanker, not easily infuriated, made it clear, put it on the line, pulled no punches for he said the time is long over for drawing curtains over the school system.

He pointed to a publication of the African-American Teachers Assn., the Forum, which ran an article he said was reminiscent of the Third Reich. Jewish teachers were assailed in terms which could have come out of Der Stuermer. Negroes who joined their white colleagues in fighting back are denounced as "Black Angelo-Saxon collaborators." It's all there in print, in black and white.

Violence is not indivisible. Its sepulchral stench rises from many cultural swamps into a mushroom cloud far more explosive than the atomic toy.

The time has come, it seems to me, for a return of the age of reason.

3 Accidents Investigated

No injuries were reported in three separate accidents Thursday investigated by the Hancock County sheriff's office.

Damage was estimated at $900 to a car driven by James Hayward, 18, of New Cumberland RD 1, who was involved in a collision with Richard Birkhimer Jr., 16, of New Cumberland RD 1 at 1:30 p. m. on Route 8 north of the Hilltop Drive - In Theater.

Hayward told deputies he was traveling south following two cars. He attempted to pass both cars, but Birkhimer pulled out, striking his car. Hayward said he attempted to avoid the accident, went into gravel off the berm and over a 12-foot embankment. No one was cited. Birkhimer's vehicle, which is owned by Sarah Ann Thomas of Chester, received $45 damage.

Hayward's vehicle also struck a fence owned by Pete Caputo of Route 8.

No arrest was made when two Chester drivers claimed both vehicles were left of center following an accidnet at 8:20 a.m. on Little Blue Rd. near Chester.

Michael Lee Manley, 18, of 930 Proenix Ave. was the operator of a truck and John Richard Stover, 33, of Chester RD 1 was driving a 1966 vehicle which received $275 damage. Both cars had been moved by the time deputies arrived and neither driver was cited, the sheriff's office said.

N. T. Holbrook, superintendent of Tomlinson Run State Park, reported to the sheriff's office a car had gone over a steep hill in the park and Charles Claypool Jr., 17, of 244 George St., Chester, was charged with failure to report an accident.

The mishap occurred about 1 a. m. Claypool told deputies he failed to negotiate a sharp bend and went over the hill, with his car coming to rest between two trees. He escaped with only bruises.

Laborites In Britain Absorb New Setbacks

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government lost heavily in two more House of Commons special elections Thursday, giving more evidence that Laborite political fortunes are at a low ebb.

The Conservatives captured the longtime Laborite stronghold of Oldham, a textile town and trade union center. The Laborites retained another party stronghold in the Brightside district of industrial Sheffield but got 12,474 vtes less than they did in 1966, an indication of the workers' anger with the government's austerity program.

County Farmers Are Reminded Of Wheat Deadline

LISBON — Columbiana County farmers who do not have a wheat allotment and would like one for the 1969 crop of winter wheat have until July 1 to make application.

J. Glenn Bates, chairman of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said written application for a "new farm" wheat allotment may be filed at the county ASC office in the Gallo Building on the Square.

A producer eligible to file an application, Bates said, is one with a farm for which no wheat allotment has been established and for which neither the owner nor the operator has an interest in the wheat allotment on any other farm, who has available land and adequate equipment and facilities for the successful production of a wheat crop on the farm, who during the last five years has had at least two years' experience in producing wheat, and who as an operator expects to receive more than 50 per cent of his current year's income from the total production on the farm (not including the anticipated income from wheat produced on a "new farm" allotment).

Police Arrest 120 In Poor's Mule Train

DOUGLASVILLE, Ga. (AP) — The Georgia State Patrol arrested about 120 persons in a 14-wagon mule train of the Poor People's Campaign today, and said all the adults would be charged with violating a state law regulating travel on interstate highways.

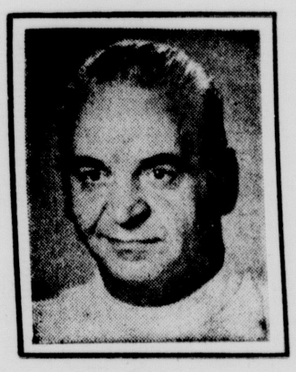

Those arrested were taken to a National Guard armory where a state patrolman filled out warrants charging them with taking nonmotorized vehicles on Interstate 20, and with walking on the interstate highway.

More than half of the 135.1 billion therms of natural gas consumed in the United States in 1967 went to the gas industry's 181,000 industrial customers.

Scouts' Council Names Officers

LISBON — Columbiana Council, Boy Scouts of America, elected officers Thursday night at St. George parish hall and accepted national headquarters' long - range plan "Boypower '76."

Next Jan. 1 is launch date for the program by each of Boy Scouts' 510 local councils. The plan will carry through 1976—the nation's 200th anniversary year.

RICHARD Emmerling, vice president of the First National Bank of East Liverpool, was elected president for a one-year term, succeeding D. W. (Del) Bailey of Columbiana.

Robert Barr of Salem was elected vice president.

Re-elected were George Bowman of Salem, vice president; William Haifley of Lisbon, treasurer; Eugene Hall of East Liverpool, council commissioner, and Bailey, C. Emory Miller of East Palestine and John C. Thompson of East Liverpool, representatives to national council.

Howard Firestone of Salem presented the slate as chairman of the nominating committee. Russell Barrow of Columbiana, a past president of the council, installed the officers. Emmerling presented a plaque to Bailey in recognition of his leadership.

Thomas Dixon, 8, of Pack 92 at Lisbon Methodist Church, had a role in the annual meeting. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dixon, he presented to council a large trophy won by Salem Troop 1 at the county Scout rally May 20, 1916. Thomas is the grandson of Charles Roessler of Lisbon, who was patrol leader of Troop 1 in 1916 and who has had the cup 52 years.

BENNETT D. Taylor Jr., council executive, said plans are to place the trophy and other items from council's past in a museum room proposed for the old Stone House at Camp McKinley near Lisbon.

Council's quotas under the "Boypower" program are: 3,050 members by 1976, a 50 per cent gain over the membership now; 50 per cent of the boys compared with the present 40 per cent; 80 per cent of the troop and unit leaders fully trained — presently 67 per cent, and 60 per cent of the Scouts going to summer camp, a 10 per cent gain over 1968.

David Rice Atchison, president pro tem of the Senate, is supposed to have served as president of the United States for one day — March 4, 1849. It was Sunday and Zachary Taylor refused to be inaugurated on the Sabbath.

3 Accidents Investigated

No injuries were reported in three separate accidents Thursday investigated by the Hancock County sheriff's office.

Damage was estimated at $900 to a car driven by James Hayward, 18, of New Cumberland RD 1, who was involved in a collision with Richard Birkhimer Jr., 16, of New Cumberland RD 1 at 1:30 p. m. on Route 8 north of the Hilltop Drive - In Theater.

Hayward told deputies he was traveling south following two cars. He attempted to pass both cars, but Birkhimer pulled out, striking his car. Hayward said he attempted to avoid the accident, went into gravel off the berm and over a 12-foot embankment. No one was cited. Birkhimer's vehicle, which is owned by Sarah Ann Thomas of Chester, received $45 damage.

Hayward's vehicle also struck a fence owned by Pete Caputo of Route 8.

No arrest was made when two Chester drivers claimed both vehicles were left of center following an accidnet at 8:20 a.m. on Little Blue Rd. near Chester.

Michael Lee Manley, 18, of 930 Proenix Ave. was the operator of a truck and John Richard Stover, 33, of Chester RD 1 was driving a 1966 vehicle which received $275 damage. Both cars had been moved by the time deputies arrived and neither driver was cited, the sheriff's office said.

N. T. Holbrook, superintendent of Tomlinson Run State Park, reported to the sheriff's office a car had gone over a steep hill in the park and Charles Claypool Jr., 17, of 244 George St., Chester, was charged with failure to report an accident.

The mishap occurred about 1 a. m. Claypool told deputies he failed to negotiate a sharp bend and went over the hill, with his car coming to rest between two trees. He escaped with only bruises.

Two men from each team are stationed at either end of the parking lot. One man places cups and saucers on the head and outstretched hands of his teammate, who then races to the opposite side. Broken ware must be replaced at the starting line. The first team to have its members successfully cross the lot will be declared the winner.

Car Wash Set For Funds

The Jaycee - sponsored "Student Work Week" will conclude tomorrow with the wash project at Al's Atlantic Car Wash at 4th and Walnut St., Charles Lang, Jaycee representative, announced.

Al Gloeckner, operator of the automatic car wash, has donated the use of the facilities, while East Liverpool High School students will provide the labor for cleaning and vacuuming the cars.

The Jaycees are seeking to raise $6,000 for employing a city recreation director for the remainder of 1968. City Council has agreed to provide funds next year if the post can be filled this year.

During the current work week, 50 students were provided employment from which they donated funds to the project.

Many students are still available, Lang said, and anyone with odd jobs which could be performed by the students may telephone 386-6560 until 4 p. m. today or 386-6611 from 4 to 9 p.m.

Lang said service clubs or other organizations interested in the proposed recreation program for residents of all ages may notify him. On the committee are Frank Moss, Joe Smith, Keith Clutter, Dick Frankel, Al Fricano, Dave Thorne and Dick Darrah.

Enforcement Of Curfew Set At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — The curfew ordinance was reread and police were instructed to strictly enforce the law during a meeting of Council here Thursday night.

The curfew ordinance, read by Mrs. Sarah Ahlborn, clerk, requires youngsters under 16 to be off the streets by 10 on weekdays and 11 on weekends. Those between 18-20 must be off the streets by 11 during the week and midnight on weekends. "Parents will be held responsible for children picked up after hours," the ordinance states.

The curfew is being enforced because of misdemeaners committed by a few youths, the legislators pointed out.

Gillis Earl, street committee chairman, reported he had received requests to oil some of the side streets and to check faulty drains on West Main St. and School House Hill.

Foundry Hill is being repaired for blacktopping, Earl added.

Council approved the payroll ordinance of $2,254. Mayor Dwayne Felton presided. The next meeting will be June 24.

The sea lily is actually an animal. The featherlike arms which radiate about the head make the animal look like a flower and are responsible for the name "sea lily."

Meeting Held On Action To Oust Minister

The Council of the Ohio View Lutheran Church at Industry met Thursday night with the Rev. Dr. William C. Hankey of Pittsburgh to discuss recent action in which the Council voted to ask for the resignation of the Rev. Oscar Arnal, pastor.

Rev. Hankey is president of the Western Pennsylvania-West Virginia Lutheran Synod.

The Council voted 5-4 on June 4 to ask the 26-year-old minister to give up the pastorate.

Rev. Arnal reportedly differs with the Council on some matters of church policy and doctrine. There also has been criticism of his participation in activities of the Midland Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. He also was criticized for his remarks when he spoke at the Western Beaver baccalaureate service June 2.

Rev. Arnal declined to comment on the meeting today and the Council refused a public statement.

A member of the Council indicated, however, that some small progress was made last night.

Another meeting will be scheduled with Rev. Hankey. Rev. Arnal is president of the church group.

The Beaver County Council of Churches earlier this week issued a public statement supporting Rev. Arnal in race relations activities.

The Reserve unit representative said he could not promise the East Liverpool project would be undertaken this year, the mayor said. The unit now is working on a project at Wheeling and is slated to proceed to another job at Martins Ferry.

Two city residents were injured in one of four highway mishaps investigated by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon today and Thursday.

Miss Shawke was cited by the patrol for a stop sign violation after her car, northbound on County Rd. 435, failed to stop at the intersection.

Both cars received moderate damage, officers reported.

A Salineville man was cited by the patrol following a car-truck mishap at the intersection of Route 39 and County Rd. 418 today at 3 a. m.

Charged with a stop sign violation was Thomas F. Strabley, 47, of 7 E. Main St., Salineville, after his 1967 coach, southbound on County Rd. 418, pulled crossways onto Route 39 into the path of the southbound truck.

Donald Nicholson, 33, of 1763 Maple Ave., Wellsville, operating a 1967 tractor, told officers he swerved his truck into the right lane when he saw the Strabley car on the highway, and the rear of the truck struck the Strabley coach.

Both vehicles were damaged lightly, the patrol reported.

A 1963 coach, driven by Rose A. Mitchell, 18, of Lisbon RD 1, and a 1961 truck operated by Elmer McBane of 929 Wood St., Wellsville, were involved in a mishap Thursday on Township Rd. 901, a half - mile north of County Rd. 448.

OFFICERS said the mishap occurred at 11 a.m. when the northbound Mitchell coach, attempting a right turn, went out of control and slid into the left side of the southbound McBane truck.

Two pickup trucks were involved in a three - vehicle mishap on Route 14, five feet from the Pennsylvania state line Thursday.

The accident took place at 7:10 p. m. when the truck operated by Eugene P. Messimer, 34, of Salem, was attempting to overtake an unidentified vehicle and a 1962 truck, operated by Richard H. Culler, 33, of 1902 Neeld Rd., East Palestine, pulled from a private drive into the path of the Messimer truck.

Messimer told officers his truck struck the left rear of the unidentified vehicle as he attempted to return to his own lane.

Enforcement Of Curfew Set At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — The curfew ordinance was reread and police were instructed to strictly enforce the law during a meeting of Council here Thursday night.

The curfew ordinance, read by Mrs. Sarah Ahlborn, clerk, requires youngsters under 16 to be off the streets by 10 on weekdays and 11 on weekends. Those between 18-20 must be off the streets by 11 during the week and midnight on weekends. "Parents will be held responsible for children picked up after hours," the ordinance states.

The curfew is being enforced because of misdemeaners committed by a few youths, the legislators pointed out.

Opening Performances Given Thursday

Group To Present Plays Again Tonight, Saturday

The initial productions of the Ceramic Playrites were greeted with no small amount of appreciative laughter, but with some puzzlement, during Thursday's opening at the Liberty Theater in Wellsville.

About 45 attended the performances of "The American Dream" and "A Resounding Tinkle" of the newly-organized theater group.

The plays will be presented again tonight and Saturday at 8:30, with tickets available at the door, James Graham, president, said.

THE AUDIENCE was easily won over in the first play last night, as Ruth Boston, portraying "Mommy", appeared as an overbearing woman who continually put "Daddy", Robert Lackner, in his place—sniveling behind the evening paper.

Enter Burdise Graham as "Grandma," and nasty remarks begin to fly between the two women. At first it appears that Grandma is a little muddled about why she's there at all, much less aware of the severe persecution complex she feigns. But as the play develops, one finds that she is a crafty bird and not at all as "old" as she lets on.

"Mrs. Barker," portrayed by Barbara Kinsey, is a flighty society dame whose main interest seems to be impressing everyone with how important she is. After she and Mommy sparchly within moments after her arrival, exit all except Mrs. Barker and Grandma — and then the fun begins!

It seems the couple had adopted a child years ago, but due to his self preoccupation, the baby gave up and died.

However, it turns out there was a twin born with and separated at birth from the poor unfortunate. Here is where Harold Taggart, as the "young man," enters, with rippling muscles and a positive approach to Grandma's idea that he replace the infant "bought" years ago.

As the play ends, Mommy is happy with her "new" son, and Mrs. Barker and Daddy are "sure they can work something out!"

"A RESOUNDING Tinkle, the second presentation of the evening, opens with "Bro," Mike Grimes, and "Middie," played by Frances Leon, wondering what on earth they're going to do with an oversized elephant.

Though most people would jump at the thought of having the beast in their back yard at all, it appears it's old hat to the Paradocks — even so, they must admit the specimen delivered is just a little more than they bargained for.

Constant bickering about the name of the animal — whether to retain "Mr. Trench" as in foregone years, or settle on something a little less common —highlights the entire production.

Finally, they decide to trade beast with a neighbor whose boa constrictor is too short — "Too short for what?" asks Middie, though no one ever quite finds that answer.

Amid testy verbal play about Bro's being asked to form a government and Middie's preoccupation with having her way, "Uncle Ted," Sue Smith, arrives and he's changed his sex!

A thread of repitition is used to pull the play together, though the audience is unaware of it at first. It is used through the radio programs specially well with the actors parroting the lines as the play closes.

The two plays are presented in about two hours, and offer a new kind of humor. If the response remains the same as Thursday's, many plays will follow, directors Don Langsdale and Thomas Henthorn, said.

The plays will be presented tonight and Saturday at 8:30 at the theater, with tickets available at the door, James Graham, president, said.

Opening Performances Given Thursday

Group To Present Plays Again Tonight, Saturday

The initial productions of the Ceramic Playrites were greeted with no small amount of appreciative laughter, but with some puzzlement, during Thursday's opening at the Liberty Theater in Wellsville.

About 45 attended the performances of "The American Dream" and "A Resounding Tinkle" of the newly-organized theater group.

The plays will be presented again tonight and Saturday at 8:30, with tickets available at the door, James Graham, president, said.

THE AUDIENCE was easily won over in the first play last night, as Ruth Boston, portraying "Mommy", appeared as an overbearing woman who continually put "Daddy", Robert Lackner, in his place—sniveling behind the evening paper.

Enter Burdise Graham as "Grandma," and nasty remarks begin to fly between the two women. At first it appears that Grandma is a little muddled about why she's there at all, much less aware of the severe persecution complex she feigns. But as the play develops, one finds that she is a crafty bird and not at all as "old" as she lets on.

"Mrs. Barker," portrayed by Barbara Kinsey, is a flighty society dame whose main interest seems to be impressing everyone with how important she is. After she and Mommy spar archly within moments after her arrival, exit all except Mrs. Barker and Grandma — and then the fun begins!

It seems the couple had adopted a child years ago, but due to his self preoccupation, the baby gave up and died.

However, it turns out there was a twin born with and separated at birth from the poor unfortunate. Here is where Harold Taggart, as the "young man," enters, with rippling muscles and a positive approach to Grandma's idea that he replace the infant "bought" years ago.

As the play ends, Mommy is happy with her "new" son, and Mrs. Barker and Daddy are "sure they can work something out!"

"A RESOUNDING Tinkle, the second presentation of the evening, opens with "Bro," Mike Grimes, and "Middie," played by Frances Leon, wondering what on earth they're going to do with an oversized elephant.

Though most people would jump at the thought of having the beast in their back yard at all, it appears it's old hat to the Paradocks — even so, they must admit the specimen delivered is just a little more than they bargained for.

Constant bickering about the name of the animal — whether to retain "Mr. Trench" as in foregone years, or settle on something a little less common —highlights the entire production.

Finally, they decide to trade beast with a neighbor whose boa constrictor is too short — "Too short for what?" asks Middie, though no one ever quite finds that answer.

Amid testy verbal play about Bro's being asked to form a government and Middie's preoccupation with having her way, "Uncle Ted," Sue Smith, arrives and he's changed his sex!

A thread of repitition is used to pull the play together, though the audience is unaware of it at first. It is used through the radio programs specially well with the actors parroting the lines as the play closes.

The two plays are presented in about two hours, and offer a new kind of humor. If the response remains the same as Thursday's, many plays will follow, directors Don Langsdale and Thomas Henthorn, said.

The plays will be presented tonight and Saturday at 8:30 at the theater, with tickets available at the door, James Graham, president, said.

TETANUS SHOTS

Q. Each year before our two children go to summer camp they receive protective shots, including tetanus. Is this necessary?

A. You should be guided by the advice of your family doctor and that of the camp authorities. The present thinking of the American Public Health Association on tetanus immunization is this: A fully immunized person (one who has received three injections of toxoid not less than four weeks apart followed by a reinforcing dose 8 to 12 months later) need not be given annual boosters. Under such circumstances, and in the absence of injury, the Association recommends a reinforcing shot every 10 years.

INJECTION BLOTCHES

Q. Several years ago I received treatment for varicose veins. The skin where the injections were made is now quite discolored. Can the blotches be removed?

A. Darkening of the skin is not uncommon after injection treatment for varicose veins. The discoloration tends to fade with time. However, if the skin is still discolored after six months or so, it is not likely that the spot will disappear completely. A dermatologist (skin doctor) may be consulted about the possibility of improving the condition.

Better Health Through Knowledge

Medical Mirror

Send questions to: P. O. Box 1174 Louisville 1, Ky.

TETANUS SHOTS

Q. Each year before our two children go to summer camp they receive protective shots, including tetanus. Is this necessary?

A. You should be guided by the advice of your family doctor and that of the camp authorities. The present thinking of the American Public Health Association on tetanus immunization is this: A fully immunized person (one who has received three injections of toxoid not less than four weeks apart followed by a reinforcing dose 8 to 12 months later) need not be given annual boosters. Under such circumstances, and in the absence of injury, the Association recommends a reinforcing shot every 10 years.

INJECTION BLOTCHES

Q. Several years ago I received treatment for varicose veins. The skin where the injections were made is now quite discolored. Can the blotches be removed?

A. Darkening of the skin is not uncommon after injection treatment for varicose veins. The discoloration tends to fade with time. However, if the skin is still discolored after six months or so, it is not likely that the spot will disappear completely. A dermatologist (skin doctor) may be consulted about the possibility of improving the condition.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Mr. TV Started 20 Years Ago

When you look at some TV shows, it's hard to believe that the medium is 20 years old. Milton Berle knows it is, though, because it was just 20 years ago that he started his "Star Theater". Then, of course, there's Ed Sullivan, who started 20 years ago and still is on TV every week.

Hal Humphrey

On Berle's first show 20 years ago he had Pearl Bailey, Senor Wences (the ventriloquist), Smith & Dale and Bill (Bojangles) Robinson.

BERLE WAS only the first "host" and the next week it was Harry Richman followed by Ray Bolger. But Berle made such a hit and so much mail came into the sponsor and NBC that it was decided to make it "Milton Berle's Star Theater."

"We had no writers the first 39 weeks. I just did my night club and vaudeville routines, and I was making less on TV than I did the year before on my radio show, which paid me $2,000 a week compared to TV's $1,250," Berle recalls.

By the second season, with Berle the top attraction on the new medium, his salary was bounced to $4,000 and soon after that to $6,000.

"I LOST a lot of money during those years, too," says Berle. "You know, I'm a song writer, too, and with Buddy Arnold and Woody Kling I wrote a theme song for the four singers we hired who opened each show. Then we sold it to the sponsor for $150 and I think the royalties were $15,000 the first year."

Berle's budget for the whole show that first year was $15,000 per show, an amount which hardly would make the down payment on a minute commercial today. He paid his guest stars $500 or $750. Now the same ones get $7,500 to $10,000 for guest appearances on TV.

"I remember a guy by the name of Irving Kahn, who came to see me with a gadget he called a Teleprompter. We had no cue cards in those days, and this was a machine which would roll the script. He offered me 25 per cent of the company if I'd use it on the show, and I turned it down," Berle reports.

HE WASN'T completely a financial rube. Berle finally told NBC he wanted the show on film, so he'd have an annuity in residuals. The network feared film would rob Berle's show of its spontaneity, so he was given a 30-year contract to make up for doing his show "live."

That contract runs until 1981, and it already has made up for a lot of residuals.

Guests who worked the Berle show in those early years of TV (1948-1956) pictured him as a Simon Legree, rushing around through rehearsals with a towel wrapped around his neck and blowing a whistle whenever he wanted anyone's attention. He acted, directed, produced and swept up the stage after the show.

"I WORE the towel because that New York studio was the draftiest barn in the world, and if I used my voice too much hollering for quiet, I'd get hoarse, so I'd save it with the whistle," says Berle.

As for running everything, it was a cinch he knew more about TV then than anyone else, because he'd been in it longer — by a few weeks, at least.

Since those first eight consecutive years of weekly TV, Berle has been back with series on three other occasions, including emceeing a bowling show. The most recent was a couple of years ago on ABC. None of these met with the success he had his first time around on TV, but that's not because the medium has outgrown him.

TV never outgrows anybody on it, but frequently the viewers outgrow TV, as last year's ratings on the new shows indicated. In Berle's case, he's still a funny man. (But the wrong time slot on TV also can kill you today, especially if another network is running a not-so-old movie against you.)

"TV IS a very funny business except when you're doing a comedy show," muses Berle, who currently is collaborating with Stephen Lord as writer of an upcoming eipsode of "Ironside" in which Berle will guest-star.

"What I'd really like to do is put together a repertory company of a half dozen top comedians for TV and do 8 or 10 shows a season with all of them in each one.

"Maybe one month we'd do an original, then the next an adaptation of 'The Male Animal' or something like that," says the energetic Berle, who'll be 60 in July.

4 Penn Central Cars Derailed At Wooster

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—Four cars of a Penn Central freight train derailed at a Wooster crossing Thursday, and the engine of a New York-bound passenger train was sideswiped by the wreckage.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Mr. TV Started 20 Years Ago

When you look at some TV shows, it's hard to believe that the medium is 20 years old. Milton Berle knows it is, though, because it was just 20 years ago that he started his "Star Theater". Then, of course, there's Ed Sullivan, who started 20 years ago and still is on TV every week.

Hal Humphrey

On Berle's first show 20 years ago he had Pearl Bailey, Senor Wences (the ventriloquist), Smith & Dale and Bill (Bojangles) Robinson.

BERLE WAS only the first "host" and the next week it was Harry Richman followed by Ray Bolger. But Berle made such a hit and so much mail came into the sponsor and NBC that it was decided to make it "Milton Berle's Star Theater."

"We had no writers the first 39 weeks. I just did my night club and vaudeville routines, and I was making less on TV than I did the year before on my radio show, which paid me $2,000 a week compared to TV's $1,250," Berle recalls.

By the second season, with Berle the top attraction on the new medium, his salary was bounced to $4,000 and soon after that to $6,000.

"I LOST a lot of money during those years, too," says Berle. "You know, I'm a song writer, too, and with Buddy Arnold and Woody Kling I wrote a theme song for the four singers we hired who opened each show. Then we sold it to the sponsor for $150 and I think the royalties were $15,000 the first year."

Berle's budget for the whole show that first year was $15,000 per show, an amount which hardly would make the down payment on a minute commercial today. He paid his guest stars $500 or $750. Now the same ones get $7,500 to $10,000 for guest appearances on TV.

"I remember a guy by the name of Irving Kahn, who came to see me with a gadget he called a Teleprompter. We had no cue cards in those days, and this was a machine which would roll the script. He offered me 25 per cent of the company if I'd use it on the show, and I turned it down," Berle reports.

HE WASN'T completely a financial rube. Berle finally told NBC he wanted the show on film, so he'd have an annuity in residuals. The network feared film would rob Berle's show of its spontaneity, so he was given a 30-year contract to make up for doing his show "live."

That contract runs until 1981, and it already has made up for a lot of residuals.

Guests who worked the Berle show in those early years of TV (1948-1956) pictured him as a Simon Legree, rushing around through rehearsals with a towel wrapped around his neck and blowing a whistle whenever he wanted anyone's attention. He acted, directed, produced and swept up the stage after the show.

-:-

"I WORE the towel because that New York studio was the draftiest barn in the world, and if I used my voice too much hollering for quiet, I'd get hoarse, so I'd save it with the whistle," says Berle.

As for running everything, it was a cinch he knew more about TV then than anyone else, because he'd been in it longer — by a few weeks, at least.

Since those first eight consecutive years of weekly TV, Berle has been back with series on three other occasions, including emceeing a bowling show. The most recent was a couple of years ago on ABC. None of these met with the success he had his first time around on TV, but that's not because the medium has outgrown him.

TV never outgrows anybody on it, but frequently the viewers outgrow TV, as last year's ratings on the new shows indicated. In Berle's case, he's still a funny man. (But the wrong time slot on TV also can kill you today, especially if another network is running a not-so-old movie against you.)

-:-

"TV IS a very funny business except when you're doing a comedy show," muses Berle, who currently is collaborating with Stephen Lord as writer of an upcoming eipsode of "Ironside" in which Berle will guest-star.

"What I'd really like to do is put together a repertory company of a half dozen top comedians for TV and do 8 or 10 shows a season with all of them in each one.

"Maybe one month we'd do an original, then the next an adaptation of 'The Male Animal' or something like that," says the energetic Berle, who'll be 60 in July.

4 Penn Central Cars Derailed At Wooster

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—Four cars of a Penn Central freight train derailed at a Wooster crossing Thursday, and the engine of a New York-bound passenger train was sideswiped by the wreckage.

No one was injured.

Railroad officials blamed a burned out journal box for the derailment of the cars from a 126-car freight train.

Minister Tells Lisbon Club Of 'Exploitation Of Poor'

LISBON — An Alliance minister talked to the Kiwanis Club Thursday noon in the Masonic Temple about Cleveland's inner city.

The Rev. and Mrs. Leonard Solt of Union Ave. Methodist Church lived in the ghetto on a welfare - size check and observed what they termed many instances of exploitation of the poor:

A landlord who said, "You don't make money by fixing up property in the inner city;"

A storekeeper who, in exchange for $5, offered to deliver a $299 living room suite—with color TV thrown in—if he would sign a "paper"—a $700 promissory note, and

Food market operators who stock their shelves with inferior products and boost prices — as much as three cents a can — just in time for the welfare checks which are mailed the same day all over the state.

Rev. Solt said upper middle class families in Alliance are able to buy groceries for less than ghetto families are paying in the city. He said the problem is close at hand. "We have a housing situation in Alliance that, except for size, is as critical as anything in Cleveland."

The minister said, "No longer can we sweep our problems under the rug. . .and go our merry way in a Pollyanna belief that everything will be fine tomorrow. It will not be fine until we all join hands in a great adventure—we must do what the master said, love God with all our hearts and our neighbor as ourselves."

The Rev. Frederick Shiltz of the Methodist Church was program chairman. A. Monty Muntean presided.

Beaver County UF Sets Million Campaign Goal

The 10th annual campaign of the United Funds of Beaver County to be conducted next fall will seek a goal of $1,051,758, 1½ per cent greater than last year's campaign results of $1,035,176 and 5 per cent more than last year's goal of $1,000,643.

The goal was established by the board of directors Wednesday.

While representing the smallest increase in recent years, the goal, nevertheless, will provide a 6½ per cent increment in agency allocations in 1969 totaling $973,820. A total of $29,933 is proposed for next year's administration costs and $48,005 for the 1969 campaign costs.

JUDGE James E. Rowley, admissions and allocations committee chairman, said the new agency has been added to this year's fund - raising campaign. The Western Pennsylvania Chapter of the Myasthenia Gravis Foundation is tentatively included in the group of more than 40 agencies and services supported by the once-a-year campaign.

The foundation currently services eight Beaver countians. While this muscular disorder which involves nerve impulses to the muscle sometimes incapacitates individuals, it can also be fatal.

In addition to this new agency, current agency programs such as the Red Cross Blood Bank, the Blind Association, Mental Hygiene Clinic and Retarded Children are proposing expansion of their services to Beaver County residents next year.

Charles D. Henderson, UF president and manager of the Zinc Smelting Division of the St. Joseph Lead Co., commenting on the goal, said, "Despite the minimal increase in our 1968-69 campaign goal, the attainment of that goal provides a realistic challenge to the citizens of the county. The goal is designed to finance many vital services to our community during the coming year. We are counting on everyone to support this endeavor through their Fair Share pledging."

A. J. Hendry, general manager of the Standard Controls Division of the Westinghouse Electric Corp. and this fall's countywide campaign chairman, also announced major committee appointments.

They include George W. Kross Jr., vice president of the Tubular Products Division of the Babcock & Wilcox Corp., major corporate gifts cultivation chairman, and John P. Strand, president of the Midland Division of Crucible Steel Corp., co - chairman of the same committee. William M. Welsh, staff representative of the United Steelworkers of America District 20, chairman of the Fair Share plan committee, and Dr. Kenneth E. Carlson, pathologist, co-chairman. Nils Liebendorfer, secretary of the Peoples Building and Loan Association, chairman of the chapter plan committee, and Michael Baker III, vice president of Michael Baker, Jr., Inc., co - chairman.

A FREE chest X-ray to detect tuberculosis, enlarged heart, lung cancer and other chest disorders will be available at the third annual Health-O-Rama June 20-23 at the Beaver Falls Central Elementary School.

In the past two years, 11,819 X-rays were taken, with more than 5 per cent revealing some abnormality. These 668 persons whose X-rays indicated the possibility of a health problem were referred to their family physician for further diagnosis.

During the four-day period, eight free tests will be offered. The tests include a measurement of height and weight, a vision test, hearing test, anemia test, diabetes test, chest X-ray for enlarged heart, tuberculosis and lung cancer, a kidney disease test, and an expanded cholesterol test. Last year, 99 males between 35 to 45 were tested for cholesterol and tests revealed 19 positive results. This year's cholesterol test program is available to the first 350 males, ages 35 to 60, and the first 150 females, ages 45 to 60 who present themselves at the Beaver County Heart Association's Health - O - Rama booth.

BB Shot Strikes Auto Windshield

Mrs. Ruth Adams of 1323 Sunnyside Ave. told police a BB fired by an unknown person damaged the windshield of her auto Thursday night about 7 as she drove east on W. 8th St. near Jefferson St.

Meanwhile, Dee Deeplatt reported to police Thursday a vandal forced open the hood of her imported auto Wednesday night or Thursday while it was parked on a lot off W. 5th St. and tore loose some of the electrical wiring. The auto is registered in the name of her mother, Mrs. Mamie Thorn of 131½ W. 5th St., she said.

2 Per Cent Increase

UF At Midland Approves $78,157 Campaign Goal

On recommendation of its campaign committee, the Board of Directors of the Midland Area United Fund has approved a $78,157 goal for the United Fund drive to be held this fall.

The increase of the new goal, over last year's, is 2 per cent as compared to the 6 per cent increase of last year's goal over the previous year. Additional money needed this year will amount to $1,468.

The 1967 goal was $74,116, and results were $76,631, including $3,186 in the county credit. The new goal will include county credit of $3,244. Funds raised will aid more than 40 agencies next year.

Rex M. Crawford, vice president and this fall's general campaign chairman, announced that C. L. Finley of the First National Bank, Al Lona, president of Local 1212, United Steelworkers of America, and Dan Borato of Ohioville will be campaign co - chairmen.

The board has approved a $1,000 allotment to the Midland Hot Stove League for the coming year.

Richard Fusco, executive director of the United Funds of Beaver County, explained to directors that a resolution will be presented to the county allocations and admissions committee asking that funds, some $56,000 in charitable gifts, be gradually cut down over a five year period for 14 groups, such as recreation associations, libraries and veterans groups, which are sponsored by local boards. He said the resolution offers an alternative, that the groups may continue if organized county - wide in order to be of benefit to all county residents. If approved by the county committee, the resolution would be sent to local boards for their approval.

Earl Stange of Mackintosh - Hemphill, Division of the E. W. Bliss Co., of Midland, was appointed to fill one of two vacancies on the board. Directors also set the first Monday of every second month for a noon meeting at the Midland Division of the Crucible Steel Corp. The next meeting will be Aug. 5.

Financial reports were given by Nile H. Wain, executive secretary, and William Black, treasurer.

More Traffic Tieups Loom On Autobahn

BERLIN (AP) — Traffic on the autobahn to West Berlin returned to normal during the night, but police predicted more tieups today because of East Germany's new restrictions.

West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger, after talks in West Berlin Thursday with Mayor Klaus Schuetz, called for a "serious counterreaction" from the United States, Britain and France.

The three Western allies have announced they would take the restrictions up with the Soviets but have given no indication of any other action. Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, gave full support to the East German action, foreshadowing a Soviet rebuff to the Western Powers.

Asked whether his government and the allies held different views on such countermeasures as curbing traffic with East Germany or restricting East German travel in Western countries, Kiesinger said: "The protective powers believe that their own measures should be in connection with those we are prepared to take."

The chancellor did not specify what steps his government had in mind.

The new East German regulations on overland travel to West Berlin caused highway delays Thursday of up to five hours. The decrees require that West Germans and West Berliners pick up and pay for visas in order to travel to and from West Germany. They had previously been in a different category from foreigners and were only required to show their identity cards and a road fee.

Under the new setup, the East Germans also are demanding that West Germans produce passports by July 15. They also are going to levy increased taxes on commerce.

A letter of resignation was received from Leroy A. Croyle Jr. He will be replaced by Joseph Mulach.

The next meeting will be July 9.

The increase of the new goal, over last year's, is 2 per cent as compared to the 6 per cent increase of last year's goal over the previous year. Additional money needed this year will amount to $1,468.

The 1967 goal was $74,116, and results were $76,631, including $3,186 in the county credit. The new goal will include county credit of $3,244. Funds raised will aid more than 40 agencies next year.

Rex M. Crawford, vice president and this fall's general campaign chairman, announced that C. L. Finley of the First National Bank, Al Lona, president of Local 1212, United Steelworkers of America, and Dan Borato of Ohioville will be campaign co - chairmen.

The board has approved a $1,000 allotment to the Midland Hot Stove League for the coming year.

Richard Fusco, executive director of the United Funds of Beaver County, explained to directors that a resolution will be presented to the county allocations and admissions committee asking that funds, some $56,000 in charitable gifts, be gradually cut down over a five year period for 14 groups, such as recreation associations, libraries and veterans groups, which are sponsored by local boards. He said the resolution offers an alternative, that the groups may continue if organized county - wide in order to be of benefit to all county residents. If approved by the county committee, the resolution would be sent to local boards for their approval.

Earl Stange of Mackintosh - Hemphill, Division of the E. W. Bliss Co., of Midland, was appointed to fill one of two vacancies on the board. Directors also set the first Monday of every second month for a noon meeting at the Midland Division of the Crucible Steel Corp. The next meeting will be Aug. 5.

Financial reports were given by Nile H. Wain, executive secretary, and William Black, treasurer.

More Traffic Tieups Loom On Autobahn

BERLIN (AP) — Traffic on the autobahn to West Berlin returned to normal during the night, but police predicted more tieups today because of East Germany's new restrictions.

West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger, after talks in West Berlin Thursday with Mayor Klaus Schuetz, called for a "serious counterreaction" from the United States, Britain and France.

The three Western allies have announced they would take the restrictions up with the Soviets but have given no indication of any other action. Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, gave full support to the East German action, foreshadowing a Soviet rebuff to the Western Powers.

Asked whether his government and the allies held different views on such countermeasures as curbing traffic with East Germany or restricting East German travel in Western countries, Kiesinger said: "The protective powers believe that their own measures should be in connection with those we are prepared to take."

The chancellor did not specify what steps his government had in mind.

The new East German regulations on overland travel to West Berlin caused highway delays Thursday of up to five hours. The decrees require that West Germans and West Berliners pick up and pay for visas in order to travel to and from West Germany. They had previously been in a different category from foreigners and were only required to show their identity cards and a road fee.

Under the new setup, the East Germans also are demanding that West Germans produce passports by July 15. They also are going to levy increased taxes on commerce.

A letter of resignation was received from Leroy A. Croyle Jr. He will be replaced by Joseph Mulach.

The next meeting will be July 9.

ANN LANDERS

What's With The Boys?

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Please, please help a teen-age girl who's about to flip out.

I had three dates this past weekend — one Friday night, one Saturday night and a skating date Sunday afternoon. I need to know where a trend ends and nuttiness begins? I'm talking about boys who are getting more girlish by the day.

One boy asked to use my compact three times during the evening so he could comb his hair. He had a big wave in front and I'm not sure, but I think there were bobby pins holding it.

My Friday night date wore a jacket that was so fancy it looked like a girl's. I really felt uncomfortable when he showed up in it but I didn't say anything.

The kid who took me out Saturday night wore a shirt with a ruffled collar and cuffs. I thought it was his mother's. When I asked where he got it he said it belonged to his brother. "I couldn't afford anything as nifty as this," he announced.

The pants are getting tighter and the hair is getting longer and the clothes are getting fancier. Do boys want to be girls or what? Please tell me. I'm beginning to wonder what all this means.—MISS? ? ?

Dear Miss: Marshall McLuhan says clothes these days are not clothes but costumes. People are dressing for the roles they play. I believe he has a message.

The more bizarre the outfit, the more desperate the "actor." People who are well balanced are not compelled to do everything short of set their hair on fire to attract attention.

And for those of you who already have reached for your ballpoints to tell this square old lady what's "in," save your stamps. I KNOW what's in and I wouldn't wear some of the so-called "in" styles to a skunk rassle.

Money Talks

Dear Ann: I have had so much well-meaning advice my head is spinning. Please help me settle something that's been bugging me for months.

I'm 26 and engaged to a man who's 41. Phil will have to pay alimony and child support (two children) for 11 more years. He has a good job and says he's in line for several promotions which will mean more money.

Do you have any statistics on the prospects of promotion after 40? Also what is the average earning capacity of a man in this age group? Has he reached his peak? If he should leave the country are there any laws that will bring him back should he decide he does not want to pay alimony and child support? (His ex-wife's family has money.)

We have had some talks and Phil tells me he has three bank accounts under different names. Is this legal? Could his ex-wife get her hands on anything if she should learn of this and he is behind in his payments? How can I find out for certain what he is making and how much money he has in the bank?

P.S.: Phil is a pleasant person and we enjoy each other's company. — BROWN-EYED SUSAN.

Dear Susan: That faint praise with which you damned poor Phil takes your letter out of the human relations category and makes it a financial inquiry. You shouldn't have written to Ann Landers, Dearie, you should have written to Dun & Bradstreet. The whole thing sounds like forget it, and I hope you will — for Phil's sake as well as yours.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

The DOCTOR Says

By Dr. W. G. Brandstadt

Fibrositis Can Be Helped

Q—What is the difference between arthritis, fibrositis and muscular neuritis? What causes fibrositis? Can it cause pain in the stomach? What is the best treatment for it?

Dr. Brandstadt

A — Arthritis is an inflammation of the joints. Fibrositis, an inflammation of the fibrous tissues in the region of a joint, is such a vague term that most doctors now prefer to make a diagnosis of myositis (involvement of the muscles), tendinitis (involvement of the tendons) or bursitis (involvement of the bursal sac surrounding some joints). Muscular neuritis or neuromyositis is a combined inflammation of nerves and muscles in a given location.

—:—

THE CAUSES of fibrositis and the closely related conditions mentioned include direct injury, infection and exposure to cold. I would not expect fibrositis to cause pain in the abdomen. Aspirin by mouth and the local application of a heating pad usually give relief. A short course with one of the cortisone-like drugs is often helpful.

Q—Is it harmful to the eyes to read while lying in bed?

A—There is some experimental evidence that it is harmful to read while lying on your back. There is, however, no harm in reading while sitting in bed provided your back is properly supported and the lighting is adequate both from the standpoint of intensity and direction.

Q—Some time ago I had a severe pain in my right temple that left me totally blind in my right eye. My eye doctor said I would be lucky if I didn't go blind in my other eye. Could my high blood pressure have caused this?

A—Severe prolonged high blood pressure, if not controlled, can cause blindness but on the evidence presented I cannot say that that was the cause of your trouble. Why not have another examination by a well-qualified ophthalmologist?

Q—My nephew is suffering from partial blindness due to Coats' disease. What causes this? Is there any treatment or prevention?

A—This disease, also known as exudative retinopathy and hemorrhagic retinitis, is seen chiefly in young adult males. It is characterized by hemorrhages into the retina. The disease is slowly progressive and there is no effective treatment.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M. D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Women Injured In Fracas Here

Two housewives were treated at City Hospital Thursday night for injuries which they suffered in a fracas near their homes in Little England and both were cited to Municipal Court on fighting charges, police reported.

They were identified as Mrs. Gladys Moorehead of 1628 St. George St., treated for lacerations of the right forehead, scalp and right upper arm, and Mrs. Helen Neville of 1623 Ohio Ave., who suffered a bump on the forehead and a scratch on the right cheek.

Several juveniles also were cited to Juvenile Court as a result of the fracas, officers said. The two women gave conflicting reports on the background of the fight.

Mrs. Moorehead told officers her children and the Neville children were playing at St. George and Walters Sts. when they began fighting. She said she and Mrs. Neville went outside "and we started fighting and one of the Neville boys hit me over the head with something."

Mrs. Neville said a young boy came to her home and invited her sons outside to fight. "They went outside and started fighting and my husband and I went out," she said. "Mrs. Morehead and I started fighting and the police came and took me to the hospital."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — West Virginia's Gov. Hulett C. Smith called for an end to "mail order murder" Thursday night, saying in a speech here that stricter federal gun control laws are needed.

Smith spoke before about 700 persons at the annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner of the Franklin County Young Democratic Club.

"In this regard, the young people can be a mountain of strength," he added.

They were identified as Mrs. Gladys Moorehead of 1628 St. George St., treated for lacerations of the right forehead, scalp and right upper arm, and Mrs. Helen Neville of 1623 Ohio Ave., who suffered a bump on the forehead and a scratch on the right cheek.

Several juveniles also were cited to Juvenile Court as a result of the fracas, officers said. The two women gave conflicting reports on the background of the fight.

Mrs. Moorehead told officers her children and the Neville children were playing at St. George and Walters Sts. when they began fighting. She said she and Mrs. Neville went outside "and we started fighting and one of the Neville boys hit me over the head with something."

Mrs. Neville said a young boy came to her home and invited her sons outside to fight. "They went outside and started fighting and my husband and I went out," she said. "Mrs. Morehead and I started fighting and the police came and took me to the hospital."

Gov. Smith Calls For End To 'Mail Order Murder'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — West Virginia's Gov. Hulett C. Smith called for an end to "mail order murder" Thursday night, saying in a speech here that stricter federal gun control laws are needed.

Smith spoke before about 700 persons at the annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner of the Franklin County Young Democratic Club.

"The time has come for this party to assume a major share of the responsibility in heeding President Johnson's call to put an end to what he termed 'the tragic phenomenon' of violence and assassination in America," the Governor said.

"In this regard, the young people can be a mountain of strength," he added.

Emmett Taylor of Ohio U. is defending his NCAA 440-yard dash title this weekend in Berkeley, Calif.

Taylor did a :45.9 last year and his best effort this season has been :46.0. He may also enter the 220, in which he has done :20.8. Taylor, a junior from Akron, will anchor the Bobcat mile relay team, which has turned in an excellent 3:07.1 this spring. Roger Hosler, Dick Fulmer and Ben Smith are the other relay runners.

OTHERS IN the NCAA meet are Jerry Boswell in the long and triple jumps, Don Fish in the javelin, Ron Hungartner in the hammer throw, Don Leedy in the steeple chase and Bob Bertelsen in the three-mile. Gary Stenlund, phys ed instructor at OU, is after an Olympic javelin berth. The Olympic trials are June 29-30 in Los Angeles.

Ohio U. athletes are also in other national championship events. Steve Modell and Lee Adams are in the tennis championships at Trinity, Texas next week and Jim Nordstrom and Ludi Schenk are in the golf finals at Las Cruces, N.M. at the same time.

OHIO U. ended the baseball season 23-6 after being eliminated from the NCAA playoffs in the district 4 series. The Bobcats refuted the theme of pitching dominance, hitting .295 and compiling a modest 3.07 ERA. Wildness was a factor, as OU pitchers gave up a school-record of 136 walks and OU batters drew a school-record 167 walks, including 31 by slugger Rich McKinney, for an individual record. McKinney ended the season hitting .391, down from last year. Mike Murphy led the team with a .407 mark, quite an improvement from last season, when he hit .244.

Overall, Ohio U. teams went 55-19-1 in the spring, bringing them from far back to win the Reese Trophy for the best all-sports record in the Mid-American Conference.

RAY SMITH, classy shortstop for WPIAL finalist Ellwood City, has been drafted by the Cleveland Indians.

Bucs Outlast Giants 8-7, Roy Face Tough In Clutch

★ ★ ★ Pirates Get 19 Hits ★ ★ ★

Ernie Banks, Willie McCovey, Ron Santo, take your 908 career home runs and make way for Deadly Dick Schofield, Slugging Steve Carlton, Clouting Clay Dalrymple and Balting Bob Watson.

Those last four bombers boast 68 career homers among them today, which is four more than they had a day ago—or even two months ago at the start of the National League season.

They all cracked their first 1968 homers Wednesday night, while McCovey, Banks and Santo rapped their 13th, 12th and 11th, respectively, in afternoon contests.

Schofield and Carlton connected as St. Louis tripped Atlanta 3-1 in 13 innings. Dalrymple unloaded to help Philadelphia nip Huston 3-2, while Watson socked his for the Astros in a losing cause.

Banks and Santo got theirs as the Chicago Cubs whipped Cincinnati 8-4 while McCoveys failed to prevent San Francisco's 8-7 loss to Pittsburgh. The New York Mets and Los Angeles were not scheduled.

The nightcap was suspended after 5½ innings so the Californians could catch a plane. The score was tied 1-1 and the game will be completed during California's next trip to Boston.

St. Louis and Atlanta were locked in a 1-1 battle through 11 innings with pitcher Carlton's first major league homer the only Cardinal run.

But Schofield, a light-hitting utility infielder who entered the game in the ninth inning, came up for the first time in the 12th and homered off Phil Niekro. The Cards added an insurance run when pinch hitter Phil Gagliano walked and Lou Brock doubled him home.

By winning, St. Louis increased its league lead to four games over the Giants, 4½ over the Dodgers and five ahead of the Braves.

Tony Gonzalez singled, stole second and scored the winning run on Tony Taylor's two-out single in the eighth inning as Philadelphia edged Houston. Taylor's blow broke up a pitching duel between Chris Short of the Phils, who gained his 100th major league victory, and Houston's Dave Giusti.

Veteran reliever Roy Face put down a ninth - inning San Fracisco uprising to preserve Pittsburgh's triumph. He came on after McCovey's two-run single had pulled the Giants to within a run.

Jim Ray Hart greeted him with a single, putting runners on first and second. But Bob Barton, attempting to sacrifice, popped to Face and Hal Lanier grounded out. Face then walked Frank Johnson intentionally before fanning pinch hitter Ray Sadecki for the final out.

The Pirates shelled Giant pitching for 19 hits but needed single runs in the seventh, eighth and ninth to insure the victory.

The Cubs spoiled Tony Cloninger's debut with Cincinnati by pounding the big right-hander for five hits and five runs in three innings. The Reds obtained Cloninger in a six-player trade earlier this week.

Santo's homer started the scoring in the second and Don Kessinger singled two runs across. Santo's triple preceded Banks' third-inning homer, the 454th of his career.

Yancey's 67 Leads Open; Trevino Next, Casper Hurt

NOT REFRESHED. John Felus makes a recovery shot after his ball landed near a refreshment stand on the 17th hole of the U.S. Open in Rochester, N. Y. yesterday. Felus, an unknown pro from Gallitzin, Pa., near Altoona, shot a par 70 yesterday to be among the leaders. (UPI Telephoto)

Felus Surprise, Palmer Has 73

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Bert Yancy had the lead and Lee Trevino had the lines. But it was an unknown little guy named John Felus who had the limelight in the U.S. Open Golf Championship.

The glamor names of the game, Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Bill Casper — particularly Billy Casper — and Gary Player, were limited to lamentations.

The handsome, husky Yaney, former West Point cadet, tamed the demanding acres of Oak Hill's tree-studded course for a three-under-par 67 in the first round Thursday and a two-stroke lead over Trevino, the happy hombre from El Paso, Tex., and big Charles Coody.

But it was the 5-foot-3 Felus, a notably unsuccessful, unattached and obscure touring pro who had the gallery of 13,749 gaping, gawking and wondering aloud: "Who's he?"

He's a 32-year-old pint-sized guy from Pennsylvania's soft coal country, describes his home town of Gallitzin, Pa., as being "near Altoona," and in three years on the tour has made less than tip money.

But, for a few moments in the early going Thursday, he was leading this most prestigious of all the world's golf tournaments with a par 70 for the 6,962-yard layout and still remains tied for fourth going into today's second round.

Also in with 70s are Billy Farrell, son of the man who won the Open in 1928, Canadian Al Balding, Dave Marr, Don Bies and Labron Harris.

Casper, winner of four tournaments this season and almost $125,000 and the pre-tournament favorite, wrenched his back when he slipped in a sand trap, finished with a 75 and is a questionable performer in the second round.

Nicklaus, the defending champion, had a 72, Palmer came in with a 73 and Player stumbled in with a 76 and could be in danger of not making the cut.

The final two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be televised nationally by ABC-TV.

Player had two double bogeys in his round, and stomped off the course, first to the putting green then for a long session on the practice tee.

The rock-steady Yancey got into the wiry, etangling rough only one, on the 16th, but came out of that to the green and canned a birdie. He finished with a 25-foot curing birdie putt on 18, had two other birds and a single bogey.

Trevino, a Mexian-American who made his debut on the pro tour in the 1967 Open—when he finished in the top 10 and launched his career with his $6,000 earnings—was his usual jovial self.

"When I came to the Open last year I had $600 in my pocket—all the money I had in the world—and a job at $30 a week as an assistant pro at Horizon Hills.

"Since then I've won $90,000 and own the club."

Coody, a strapping Texan who is tied with Trevino for second, had a mildly scrambly round with four birds and three bogeys, saving his spot in second place with a birdie on the last hole.

Sam Snead, at 56 still looking for his first Open title, had a 73.

Burbick's Keeps Lead In Pony League Play

Burbick's maintained first place in the Pony League and Littens kept pace last night.

Burbick's whipped Sevy's 12-4 at Dixonville and Littens trounced Woodbines 11-3 at Beaver Local. Jim Tipton led Burbick's, combining with Mike Banfield to hurl a three-hitter and slamming two homers and getting 5 RBIs. Ben Gregory had two hits and Tommy Samples and Brendan Huffman doubles. Anderson and George Hall doubled for the losers. Bobby Jones was the losing pitcher.

Henderson was the winning pitcher for Littens. Dean Horger led the attack with two hits. Littens won with a six-run rally in the fifth on three errors, a walk and three hits. Randy Barnard took the loss. Rick Lockhart continued his fantastic hitting for Woodbine's, getting a homer in his only official at-bat. Lockhart is now 20 for 23 with five homers. Mike Dauka added a double.

A's Squeeze By Tribe, McDowell 1-0 In 11th

By HAL BOCK

Sudden Sam McDowell had Oakland batters in a hole most of the day but when Chico Salmon found a divot of his own, it was the Indians who fell in it.

McDowell's superb pitching performance was spoiled when Salmon stepped into a hole and fell down chasing Sal Bando's hit in the 11th inning, allowing Danny Cater to score the only run in Oakland's 1-0 victory over Cleveland Thursday.

In the only other American League games played, Detroit topped Minnesota 3-1 and California took Boston 4-2. The Angels and Red Sox were tied 1-1 in the sixth inning when the second game of their doubleheader was suspended so California could catch a plane.

McDowell had allowed just two hits through the first 10 innings—none until the seventh. Bert Campaneris opened the 11th with a single but was cut down stealing. Then, with two out, Cater beat out an infield hit.

Next Bando looped a hit to left field. As Salmon started after the ball, his knee appeared to lock and he fell down. Cater scored on the play and Bando was credited with a double.

"I must have stepped in a hole or something," said Salmon. "All I know is I stepped and it (his left knee) twisted over. I couldn't get up."

Salmon, whose injury was diagnosed as a sprained knee, was taken to Shaker Medical Center for observation.

Denny McLain won his 10th game for Detroit, throwing a six-hitter that completed a four-game sweep for the Tigers over the Twins. Detroit has won nine of the last 10 games and Minnesota has dropped six straight.

Singles by Dick McAuliffe, Bill Freehan and Don Wert sandwiched around an error by Jack Hernandez gave the Tigers two runs in the third inning. Detroit scored again in the fifth on Mickey Stanley's single a sacrifice and Freehan's second hit.

California rallied for three runs in the eighth inning, with Bubba Morton's pinch single the key blow, and defeated Boston in the opener of their doubleheader.

Rick Reichardt started the winning rally by drawing a walk against reliever Jim Lonborg. Jimmie Hall bunted safely and Bobby Knoop nicked reliever Sparky Lyle for a single that tied the score. Then Morton's hit delivered Hall with the lead run and Jim Fregosi singled another across before the inning was over.

Paul Schaal, an Angel infielder, suffered a hairline skull fracture when hit by a pitch thrown by Jose Santiago. Schaal, who did not lose consciousness, was taken to Sancta Maria Hospital and held for observation.

Emmett Taylor of Ohio U. is defending his NCAA 440-yard dash title this weekend in Berkeley, Calif.

Taylor did a :45.9 last year and his best effort this season has been :46.0. He may also enter the 220, in which he has done :20.8. Taylor, a junior from Akron, will anchor the Bobcat mile relay team, which has turned in an excellent 3:07.1 this spring. Roger Hosler, Dick Fulmer and Ben Smith are the other relay runners.

OTHERS IN the NCAA meet are Jerry Boswell in the long and triple jumps, Don Fish in the javelin, Ron Hungartner in the hammer throw, Don Leedy in the steeple chase and Bob Bertelsen in the three-mile. Gary Stenlund, phys ed instructor at OU, is after an Olympic javelin berth. The Olympic trials are June 29-30 in Los Angeles.

Ohio U. athletes are also in other national championship events. Steve Modell and Lee Adams are in the tennis championships at Trinity, Texas next week and Jim Nordstrom and Ludi Schenk are in the golf finals at Las Cruces, N.M. at the same time.

OHIO U. ended the baseball season 23-6 after being eliminated from the NCAA playoffs in the district 4 series. The Bobcats refuted the theme of pitching dominance, hitting .295 and compiling a modest 3.07 ERA. Wildness was a factor, as OU pitchers gave up a school-record of 136 walks and OU batters drew a school-record 167 walks, including 31 by slugger Rich McKinney, for an individual record. McKinney ended the season hitting .391, down from last year. Mike Murphy led the team with a .407 mark, quite an improvement from last season, when he hit .244.

Overall, Ohio U. teams went 55-19-1 in the spring, bringing them from far back to win the Reese Trophy for the best all-sports record in the Mid-American Conference.

RAY SMITH, classy shortstop for WPIAL finalist Ellwood City, has been drafted by the Cleveland Indians.

Pirates Get 19 Hits

Ernie Banks, Willie McCovey, Ron Santo, take your 908 career home runs and make way for Deadly Dick Schofield, Slugging Steve Carlton, Clouting Clay Dalrymple and Balting Bob Watson.

Those last four bombers boast 68 career homers among them today, which is four more than they had a day ago—or even two months ago at the start of the National League season.

They all cracked their first 1968 homers Wednesday night, while McCovey, Banks and Santo rapped their 13th, 12th and 11th, respectively, in afternoon contests.

Schofield and Carlton connected as St. Louis tripped Atlanta 3-1 in 13 innings. Dalrymple unloaded to help Philadelphia nip Huston 3-2, while Watson socked his for the Astros in a losing cause.

Banks and Santo got theirs as the Chicago Cubs whipped Cincinnati 8-4 while McCoveys failed to prevent San Francisco's 8-7 loss to Pittsburgh. The New York Mets and Los Angeles were not scheduled.

The nightcap was suspended after 5½ innings so the Californians could catch a plane. The score was tied 1-1 and the game will be completed during California's next trip to Boston.

St. Louis and Atlanta were locked in a 1-1 battle through 11 innings with pitcher Carlton's first major league homer the only Cardinal run.

But Schofield, a light-hitting utility infielder who entered the game in the ninth inning, came up for the first time in the 12th and homered off Phil Niekro. The Cards added an insurance run when pinch hitter Phil Gagliano walked and Lou Brock doubled him home.

By winning, St. Louis increased its league lead to four games over the Giants, 4½ over the Dodgers and five ahead of the Braves.

Tony Gonzalez singled, stole second and scored the winning run on Tony Taylor's two-out single in the eighth inning as Philadelphia edged Houston. Taylor's blow broke up a pitching duel between Chris Short of the Phils, who gained his 100th major league victory, and Houston's Dave Giusti.

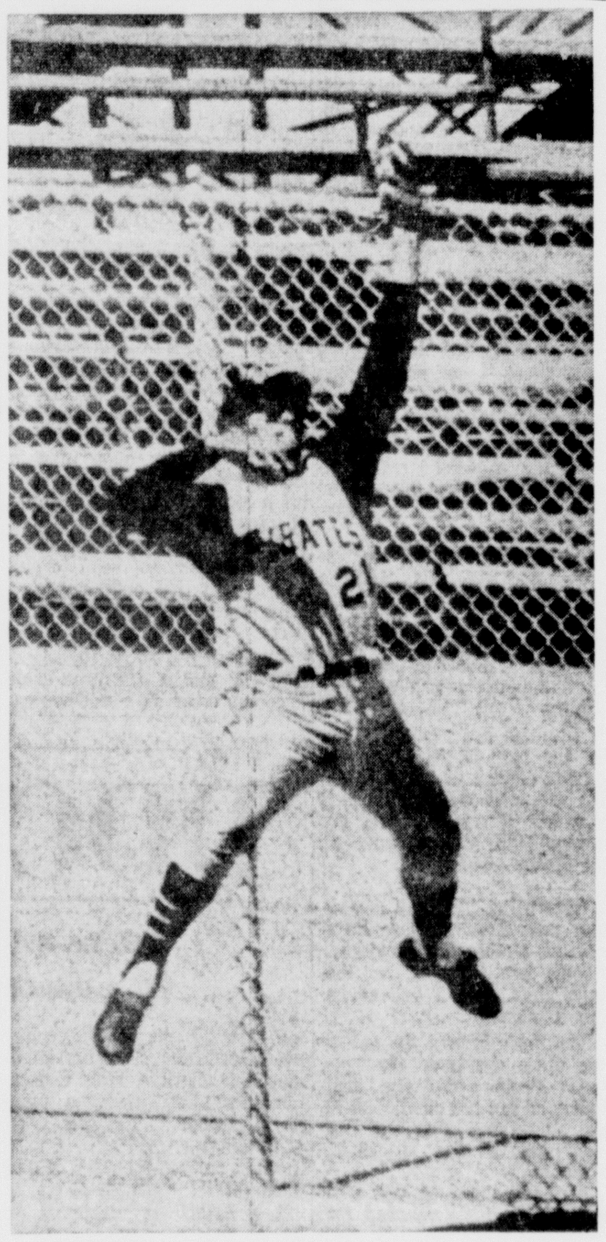

Veteran reliever Roy Face put down a ninth - inning San Fracisco uprising to preserve Pittsburgh's triumph. He came on after McCovey's two-run single had pulled the Giants to within a run.

Jim Ray Hart greeted him with a single, putting runners on first and second. But Bob Barton, attempting to sacrifice, popped to Face and Hal Lanier grounded out. Face then walked Frank Johnson intentionally before fanning pinch hitter Ray Sadecki for the final out.

The Pirates shelled Giant pitching for 19 hits but needed single runs in the seventh, eighth and ninth to insure the victory.

The Cubs spoiled Tony Cloninger's debut with Cincinnati by pounding the big right-hander for five hits and five runs in three innings. The Reds obtained Cloninger in a six-player trade earlier this week.

Santo's homer started the scoring in the second and Don Kessinger singled two runs across. Santo's triple preceded Banks' third-inning homer, the 454th of his career.

Yancey's 67 Leads Open; Trevino Next, Casper Hurt

NOT REFRESHED. John Felus makes a recovery shot after his ball landed near a refreshment stand on the 17th hole of the U.S. Open in Rochester, N. Y. yesterday. Felus, an unknown pro from Gallitzin, Pa., near Altoona, shot a par 70 yesterday to be among the leaders. (UPI Telephoto)

Felus Surprise, Palmer Has 73

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Bert Yancy had the lead and Lee Trevino had the lines. But it was an unknown little guy named John Felus who had the limelight in the U.S. Open Golf Championship.

The glamor names of the game, Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Bill Casper — particularly Billy Casper — and Gary Player, were limited to lamentations.

The handsome, husky Yaney, former West Point cadet, tamed the demanding acres of Oak Hill's tree-studded course for a three-under-par 67 in the first round Thursday and a two-stroke lead over Trevino, the happy hombre from El Paso, Tex., and big Charles Coody.

But it was the 5-foot-3 Felus, a notably unsuccessful, unattached and obscure touring pro who had the gallery of 13,749 gaping, gawking and wondering aloud: "Who's he?"

He's a 32-year-old pint-sized guy from Pennsylvania's soft coal country, describes his home town of Gallitzin, Pa., as being "near Altoona," and in three years on the tour has made less than tip money.

But, for a few moments in the early going Thursday, he was leading this most prestigious of all the world's golf tournaments with a par 70 for the 6,962-yard layout and still remains tied for fourth going into today's second round.

Also in with 70s are Billy Farrell, son of the man who won the Open in 1928, Canadian Al Balding, Dave Marr, Don Bies and Labron Harris.

Casper, winner of four tournaments this season and almost $125,000 and the pre-tournament favorite, wrenched his back when he slipped in a sand trap, finished with a 75 and is a questionable performer in the second round.

Nicklaus, the defending champion, had a 72, Palmer came in with a 73 and Player stumbled in with a 76 and could be in danger of not making the cut.

The final two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be televised nationally by ABC-TV.

Player had two double bogeys in his round, and stomped off the course, first to the putting green then for a long session on the practice tee.

The rock-steady Yancey got into the wiry, etangling rough only one, on the 16th, but came out of that to the green and canned a birdie. He finished with a 25-foot curing birdie putt on 18, had two other birds and a single bogey.

Trevino, a Mexian-American who made his debut on the pro tour in the 1967 Open—when he finished in the top 10 and launched his career with his $6,000 earnings—was his usual jovial self.

"When I came to the Open last year I had $600 in my pocket—all the money I had in the world—and a job at $30 a week as an assistant pro at Horizon Hills.

"Since then I've won $90,000 and own the club."

Coody, a strapping Texan who is tied with Trevino for second, had a mildly scrambly round with four birds and three bogeys, saving his spot in second place with a birdie on the last hole.

Sam Snead, at 56 still looking for his first Open title, had a 73.

Burbick's Keeps Lead In Pony League Play

Burbick's maintained first place in the Pony League and Littens kept pace last night.

Burbick's whipped Sevy's 12-4 at Dixonville and Littens trounced Woodbines 11-3 at Beaver Local. Jim Tipton led Burbick's, combining with Mike Banfield to hurl a three-hitter and slamming two homers and getting 5 RBIs. Ben Gregory had two hits and Tommy Samples and Brendan Huffman doubles. Anderson and George Hall doubled for the losers. Bobby Jones was the losing pitcher.

Henderson was the winning pitcher for Littens. Dean Horger led the attack with two hits. Littens won with a six-run rally in the fifth on three errors, a walk and three hits. Randy Barnard took the loss. Rick Lockhart continued his fantastic hitting for Woodbine's, getting a homer in his only official at-bat. Lockhart is now 20 for 23 with five homers. Mike Dauka added a double.

A's Squeeze By Tribe, McDowell 1-0 In 11th

By HAL BOCK

Sudden Sam McDowell had Oakland batters in a hole most of the day but when Chico Salmon found a divot of his own, it was the Indians who fell in it.

McDowell's superb pitching performance was spoiled when Salmon stepped into a hole and fell down chasing Sal Bando's hit in the 11th inning, allowing Danny Cater to score the only run in Oakland's 1-0 victory over Cleveland Thursday.

In the only other American League games played, Detroit topped Minnesota 3-1 and California took Boston 4-2. The Angels and Red Sox were tied 1-1 in the sixth inning when the second game of their doubleheader was suspended so California could catch a plane.

McDowell had allowed just two hits through the first 10 innings—none until the seventh. Bert Campaneris opened the 11th with a single but was cut down stealing. Then, with two out, Cater beat out an infield hit.

Next Bando looped a hit to left field. As Salmon started after the ball, his knee appeared to lock and he fell down. Cater scored on the play and Bando was credited with a double.

"I must have stepped in a hole or something," said Salmon. "All I know is I stepped and it (his left knee) twisted over. I couldn't get up."

Salmon, whose injury was diagnosed as a sprained knee, was taken to Shaker Medical Center for observation.

Denny McLain won his 10th game for Detroit, throwing a six-hitter that completed a four-game sweep for the Tigers over the Twins. Detroit has won nine of the last 10 games and Minnesota has dropped six straight.

Singles by Dick McAuliffe, Bill Freehan and Don Wert sandwiched around an error by Jack Hernandez gave the Tigers two runs in the third inning. Detroit scored again in the fifth on Mickey Stanley's single a sacrifice and Freehan's second hit.

California rallied for three runs in the eighth inning, with Bubba Morton's pinch single the key blow, and defeated Boston in the opener of their doubleheader.

Rick Reichardt started the winning rally by drawing a walk against reliever Jim Lonborg, Jimmie Hall bunted safely and Bobby Knoop nicked reliever Sparky Lyle for a single that tied the score. Then Morton's hit delivered Hall with the lead run and Jim Fregosi singled another across before the inning was over.

Paul Schaal, an Angel infielder, suffered a hairline skull fracture when hit by a pitch thrown by Jose Santiago. Schaal, who did not lose consciousness, was taken to Sancta Maria Hospital and held for observation.

OHSAA Delays Action On All-Star Sanctions

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's high school football and basketball coaches seem to step closer today to winning their battle for state approval of all-star games.

But the scholastic football and basketball coaches associations may have to wait until September for official sanction.

After an almost three - hour session hashing out the problem Thursday, the Board of Control of the Ohio High School Athletic Association voted to review criteria governing all-star operations.

The board ordered the coaches to submit criteria at an Aug. 14 meeting. A decision on whether to sanction the games is not expected until September.

The action, although disappointing to most coaches who attended the meeting, was interpreted as a strong indication that approval would come in the fall.

Jimmy Robinson, director of the North-South All-Star Football Game, told the board if state sanction does not come, it probably would be impossible to continue the game under stiff NCAAA restrictions.

And the respective coaches associations got a strong boost from OHSAA Commissioner Paul Landis and associate commissioner Harold Meyer. Both made statements to the six-member board favoring approval. Landis and Meyer have been criticized in the past for opposing the games.

Impassioned pleas came from outgoing OHSFCA president Ed Federici of Oregon City and association secretary Carl "Ducky" Schroeder of Massillon.

Their sentiments were echoed by current president Al Srivner of Lima Senior; Lee Himmerger of Ayersville, president of the basketball coaches association; Dan Baker of Marion, a co-diretor of the all-star cage classic, and Marv McCollum, Hamilton Taft basketball coach.

Since 1961, the summertime all-star football and basketball games have been operating under approval of the NCAA. The coaches want state sanction because the NCAA has a tough 60-40 financial formula requiring that total expenses not exceed 60 per cent of gate receipts.

The board has previously declined sanction because it contends its jurisdiction over high school athletes ends June 1.

The board said it wanted to know how much of the game profits would be applied for scholarships; what per cent would go for charitable causes and how much money would be put into escrow.

Another hot issue awaited a doubtful fate today. The board was to hear a proposal on whether to expand the state high school basketball tournament to a three-day event. Opposition by principals appears to have doomed the proposal.

San Diego Club Rents New Stadium

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The City of San Diego and owners of the new National League baseball franchise apparently have reached agreement on terms for rental of the San Diego Stadium.

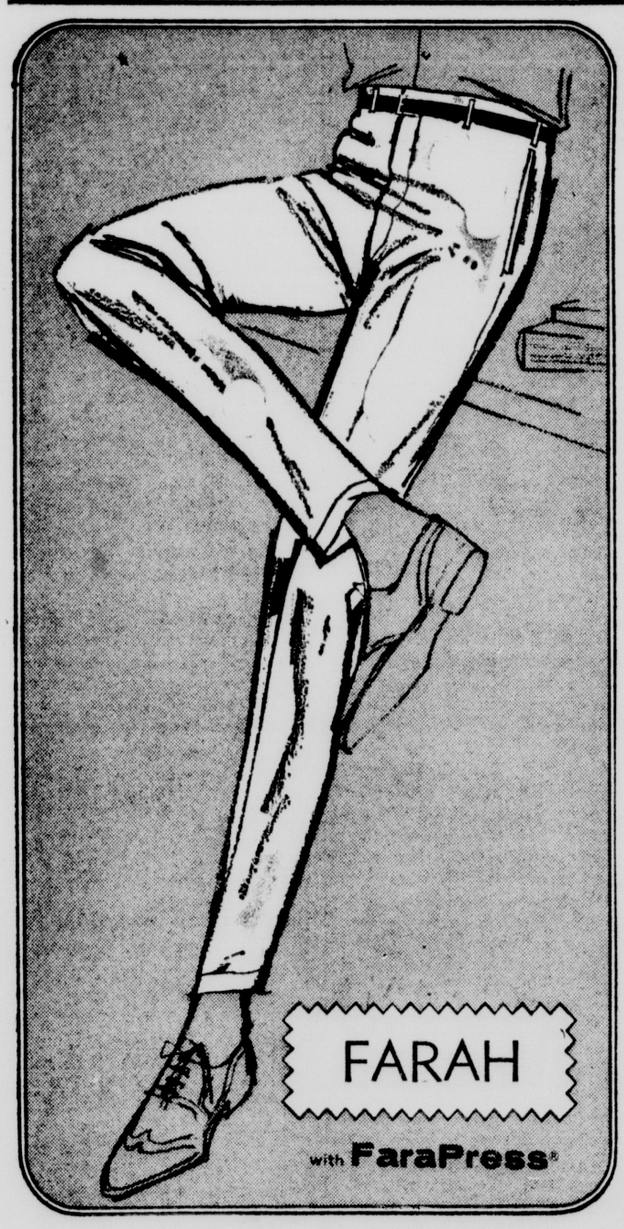

"We have reached what appears to be a mutually satisfactory formula for an agreement to provide stadium occupancy by the San Diego baseball club," said City Manager Walter Hahn Thursday after extensive negotiations with the franchise owners.

Hahn earlier said he had received a letter in which the owners of the franchise threatened to decline the invitation to join the league unless the city accepted their terms for rental of the stadium.

The terms offered by the club called for payment to the city only after the yearly attendance passed one million. The club would pay the city $1.35 for each person attending after the one million mark was reached.

Hahn declined to comment on details of the tentative agreement.

USC Leads In College Series Play

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Southern Illinois has become the biggest threat to unbeaten Southern Cal in the College World Series. Take it from Coach Joe Lutz.

"We're in good shape in this tournament now, with our best pitcher rested—Howard Nickason, who hasn't pitched since Monday," he says. "Our younger players are more relaxed and starting to hit."

SIU will face St. John's tonight then USC takes on North Carolina State. St. John's and NC State have weary pitching staffs and have been forced to use their best men in relief.

Southern Cal, 48-14, was ranked No. 1 nationally in the final coaches' poll and SIU, 36-13, was voted No. 2 after its unbeaten sweep past Ohio and Minnesota in the district tourney.

USC rallied from a 6 - 2 deficit to defeat St. John's 7 - 6 Thursday night in a game delayed 89 minutes by rain. SIU needed just one hour, 45 minutes to eliminate Oklahoma State 7-1, behind big John Susce and a 12-hit attack. NC State rallied from a 5-2 deficit and ousted Texas 6-5.

If USC stays unbeaten tonight, the SIU - St. John's winner would have to beat the classy Trojans twice — Saturday night and Monday night—to win it all. USC could take the title Saturday night if it goes unbeaten.

Montreal Baseball Park Mess Grows

MONTREAL (AP) — Lack of time and bad publicity are plaguing Montreal's fledgling baseball entry in the National League, says J. Louis Levesque, chairman of the board for the team.

"Frankly, it's going to be a gigantic task to open on the projected 1969 date, but we're certainly going to try," he said Thursday.

Lucien Saulaler, chairman of Montreal's executive committee, has said "it is necessary to proceed with a lot of care" in constructing a domed stadium in East End Montreal.

One of the big problems for which Levesque doesn't yet have the answer is the planned renovation of Montreal's Autostade, a 25,000 seat oval built for Expo 67, where the still-notformed team is scheduled to play its first two seasons.

The Autostade is to be enlarged to 40,000 seats and work should have already started to meet the April, 1969, deadline.

The proposed 35-million-dollar domed stadium with a seating capacity of 55,000 is to be built in 1971.

Gerry Snyder, a vice chairman of Montreal's executive committee, says further estimates could increase the cost of building the domed stadium from the original 35 million dollars to 45 million or more and that "a lot could happen before Mayor Jean Drapeau asked the city council to approve such an outlay."

To questions concerning the lingering doubts about the building of the domed stadium, Levesque said: "We will need many meetings with the city hall to find out what this all means."

Pitched Ball Fractures Paul Schaal's Skull

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Paul Schaal, hospitalized with a hairline skull fracture and placed on the disabled list, is the latest victim in baseball's growing list of beanings this season.

The California Angels' third baseman was hit in the head by one of Jose Santiago's pitches in the fourth inning of Thursday's first game with the Boston Red Sox.

The impact could be heard in the press box as Schaal's batting helmet flew off and he dropped to the ground flat on his back. For a few stunned moments observers feared a nightmarish repetition of the similar tragedy which apparently ended Tony Conigliaro's career in a game between the same teams here last August.

Schaal lay motionless on the ground, though it was learned later that he never lost consciousness. He was carried from the field on a stretcher and taken to Santa Maria Hospital in nearby Cambridge.

Red Sox team physician Dr. Thomas Tierney, who accompanied Schaal to the hospital along with Angels' coach Mickey McDermott, said the pitch apparently hit Schaal just below the helmet. He said the X rays showed a hairline fracture behind the left mastoid bone.

Tierney said Schaal would be kept at the hospital for further tests, but that no special treatment is indicated as necessary right now.

"The pitch just got away from me," Santiago said, adding that he was going over to the hospital to see the Angels' third baseman.

"I don't like to throw close to anybody," said the Red Sox right-hander, who hit only three batters all last season.

Pro Tennis Still Hurt By Weather

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — A busy schedule of eight first-round matches was on tap for 16 of the world's foremost players today in the rain-delayed $32,500 U.S. Pro Tennis Championships at Longwood.

With a record $8,000 as top prize, officials attempted to stagger the first round over two days. Rain washed out the first day Wednesday. The downpour lifted Thursday morning, but the plush grass courts were ruled unplayable.

The original postponement forced the finals over to Monday, a day later than scheduled.

Rod Laver of Australia, the U.S. pro champion here in 1964, '66 and '67, is top-seeded.

Curtis Cup Golf Starts In England

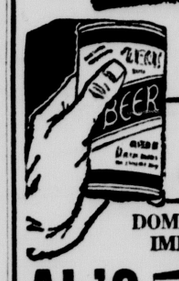

NEWCASTLE, England (AP) — Shelly Hamlin, a 19-year-old from Fresno, Calif., and Mrs. Ann Welts, three-time U.S. Amateur champion from Mount Vernon, Wash., carried American hopes today in the first match of the 15th Curtis Cup golf competition against Britain.

Miss Hamlin and Mrs. Welts teed off against Mrs. Belle Robertson and Ann Irvin—the first of three foursomes in which players strike the ball alternately over the 6,535-yard Royal County Downs course.

Other pairings matched Mary Lou Dill of Deer Park, Tex., and Peggy Conley, Spokane, Wash., against Margaret Pickard and Vivien Saunders, in one foursome and Phyllis Preuss, Pompano Beach, Fla., and Jean Ashley, Chanute, Kan., vs. Ann Howard and Pam Treddinnick in another.

Indians Deal Wagner For Russ Snyder

CLEVELAND (AP) — Russ Snyler, the Cleveland Indians' newest member, will be in uniform when the Tribe opens a three-game series with the Boston Red Sox tonight.

Snyder was obtained Thursday from the Chicago White Sox and Leon Wagner went to Chicago in an exchange of the 34-year-old outfielder.

Wagner had been with the Indians since 1963, coming from the California Angels.

Snyder went to the White Sox last year from the Baltimore Orioles.

Before departing the Wigwam, the loquacious Wagner said:

"I had a private meeting with (general manager) Gabe Paul not long ago, but only to give him my vote of confidence. I wanted him to know I wouldn't come out with any rash statements and that I was happy just being on this team. I love the Cleveland organization."

Race Taken By Lindgren

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Gerry Lindgren of Washington State University, having scored a near record performance in the 10,000 meters, attempts Saturday to score his third double distance victory in the NCAA Track Championships.

An easy winner in 29:41.0 Thursday—less than four seconds off Danny Murphy's meet record—Lindgren will run Saturday in the 5,000.

Most of Thursday's events in the three-day meet were given over to qualifying and, except for a few instances, there was little that was surprising.

Southern California did all that was expected in its bid to repeat as NCAA champion. Lennox Miller won both his heats in the 100 and 200-meter races, O. J. Simpson wn his 100-meter heat and Fred Kuller qualified in the 100 and 200.

Hurdler Earl McCullouch loafed to victory in his heat, winning by several yards in 13.7. Bob Seagren was one of 11 pole vaulters who cleared 15-6.

Henry Goes To St. Louis

MONTREAL (AP)—Two veteran National Hockey League players moved to new teams as the NHL completed its annual summer meetings here Thursday.

The New York Rangers sent left wing Camille Henry, 35, to St. Louis in a five-player trade.

Moving to the Blues with Henry are goalie Robbie Irons and defenseman Bill Plager.

In return, the Rangers acquired goalie Don Caley and right winger Wayne Rivers. Both played at Kansas City in the Central League last year.

Allan Stanley, a defenseman who had played 20 NHL seasons, was drafted from Toronto by the Quebec Aces of the American League, one of 18 players drafted by AHL and Western League teams from the NHL at $15,000 per man in the reverse draft.

OHSAA Delays Action On All-Star Sanctions

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's high school football and basketball coaches seem to step closer today to winning their battle for state approval of all-star games.

But the scholastic football and basketball coaches associations may have to wait until September for official sanction.

After an almost three - hour session hashing out the problem Thursday, the Board of Control of the Ohio High School Athletic Association voted to review criteria governing all-star operations.

The board ordered the coaches to submit criteria at an Aug. 14 meeting. A decision on whether to sanction the games is not expected until September.

The action, although disappointing to most coaches who attended the meeting, was interpreted as a strong indication that approval would come in the fall.

Jimmy Robinson, director of the North-South All-Star Football Game, told the board if state sanction does not come, it probably would be impossible to continue the game under stiff NCAAA restrictions.

And the respective coaches associations got a strong boost from OHSAA Commissioner Paul Landis and associate commissioner Harold Meyer. Both made statements to the six-member board favoring approval. Landis and Meyer have been criticized in the past for opposing the games.

Impassioned pleas came from outgoing OHSFCA president Ed Federici of Oregon City and association secretary Carl "Ducky" Schroeder of Massillon.

Their sentiments were echoed by current president Al Srivner of Lima Senior; Lee Himmerger of Ayersville, president of the basketball coaches association; Dan Baker of Marion, a co-diretor of the all-star cage classic, and Marv McCollum, Hamilton Taft basketball coach.

Since 1961, the summertime all-star football and basketball games have been operating under approval of the NCAA. The coaches want state sanction because the NCAA has a tough 60-40 financial formula requiring that total expenses not exceed 60 per cent of gate receipts.

The board has previously declined sanction because it contends its jurisdiction over high school athletes ends June 1.

The board said it wanted to know how much of the game profits would be applied for scholarships; what per cent would go for charitable causes and how much money would be put into escrow.

Another hot issue awaited a doubtful fate today. The board was to hear a proposal on whether to expand the state high school basketball tournament to a three-day event. Opposition by principals appears to have doomed the proposal.

San Diego Club Rents New Stadium

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The City of San Diego and owners of the new National League baseball franchise apparently have reached agreement on terms for rental of the San Diego Stadium.

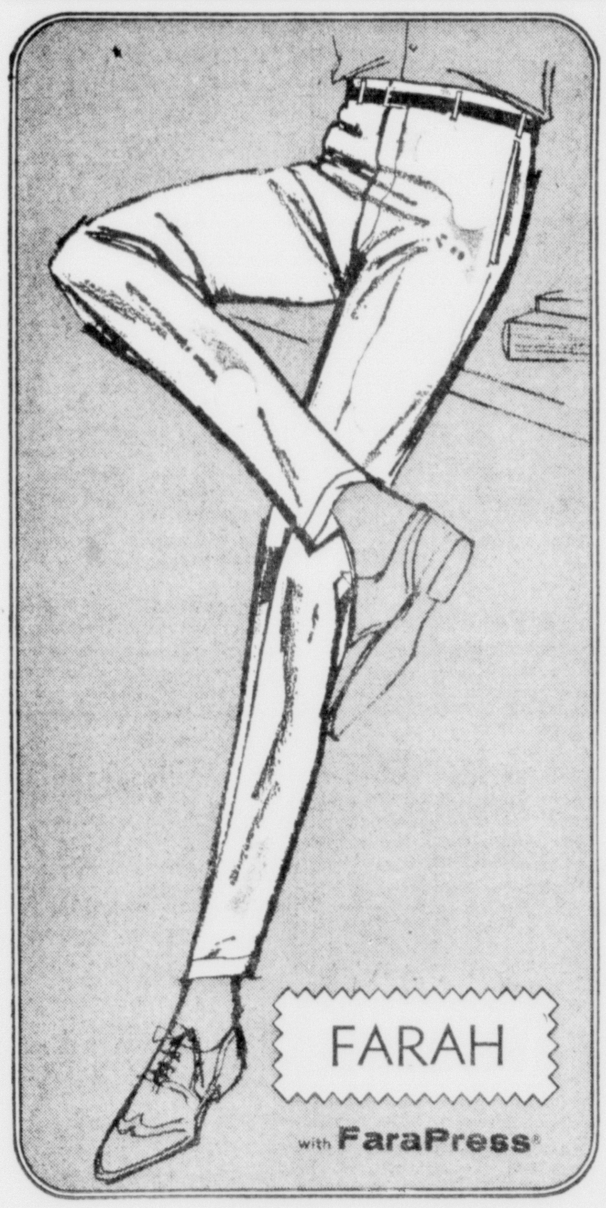

"We have reached what appears to be a mutually satisfactory formula for an agreement to provide stadium occupancy by the San Diego baseball club," said City Manager Walter Hahn Thursday after extensive negotiations with the franchise owners.

Hahn earlier said he had received a letter in which the owners of the franchise threatened to decline the invitation to join the league unless the city accepted their terms for rental of the stadium.

The terms offered by the club called for payment to the city only after the yearly attendance passed one million. The club would pay the city $1.35 for each person attending after the one million mark was reached.

Hahn declined to comment on details of the tentative agreement.

USC Leads In College Series Play

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Southern Illinois has become the biggest threat to unbeaten Southern Cal in the College World Series. Take it from Coach Joe Lutz.

"We're in good shape in this tournament now, with our best pitcher rested—Howard Nickason, who hasn't pitched since Monday," he says. "Our younger players are more relaxed and starting to hit."

SIU will face St. John's tonight then USC takes on North Carolina State. St. John's and NC State have weary pitching staffs and have been forced to use their best men in relief.

Southern Cal, 48-14, was ranked No. 1 nationally in the final coaches' poll and SIU, 36-13, was voted No. 2 after its unbeaten sweep past Ohio and Minnesota in the district tourney.

USC rallied from a 6 - 2 deficit to defeat St. John's 7 - 6 Thursday night in a game delayed 89 minutes by rain. SIU needed just one hour, 45 minutes to eliminate Oklahoma State 7-1, behind big John Susce and a 12-hit attack. NC State rallied from a 5-2 deficit and ousted Texas 6-5.

If USC stays unbeaten tonight, the SIU - St. John's winner would have to beat the classy Trojans twice — Saturday night and Monday night—to win it all. USC could take the title Saturday night if it goes unbeaten.

Montreal Baseball Park Mess Grows

MONTREAL (AP) — Lack of time and bad publicity are plaguing Montreal's fledgling baseball entry in the National League, says J. Louis Levesque, chairman of the board for the team.

"Frankly, it's going to be a gigantic task to open on the projected 1969 date, but we're certainly going to try," he said Thursday.

Lucien Saulaler, chairman of Montreal's executive committee, has said "it is necessary to proceed with a lot of care" in constructing a domed stadium in East End Montreal.

One of the big problems for which Levesque doesn't yet have the answer is the planned renovation of Montreal's Autostade, a 25,000 seat oval built for Expo 67, where the still-notformed team is scheduled to play its first two seasons.

The Autostade is to be enlarged to 40,000 seats and work should have already started to meet the April, 1969, deadline.

The proposed 35-million-dollar domed stadium with a seating capacity of 55,000 is to be built in 1971.

Gerry Snyder, a vice chairman of Montreal's executive committee, says further estimates could increase the cost of building the domed stadium from the original 35 million dollars to 45 million or more and that "a lot could happen before Mayor Jean Drapeau asked the city council to approve such an outlay."

To questions concerning the lingering doubts about the building of the domed stadium, Levesque said: "We will need many meetings with the city hall to find out what this all means."

Pitched Ball Fractures Paul Schaal's Skull

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Paul Schaal, hospitalized with a hairline skull fracture and placed on the disabled list, is the latest victim in baseball's growing list of beanings this season.

The California Angels' third baseman was hit in the head by one of Jose Santiago's pitches in the fourth inning of Thursday's first game with the Boston Red Sox.

The impact could be heard in the press box as Schaal's batting helmet flew off and he dropped to the ground flat on his back. For a few stunned moments observers feared a nightmarish repetition of the similar tragedy which apparently ended Tony Conigliaro's career in a game between the same teams here last August.

Schaal lay motionless on the ground, though it was learned later that he never lost consciousness. He was carried from the field on a stretcher and taken to Santa Maria Hospital in nearby Cambridge.

Red Sox team physician Dr. Thomas Tierney, who accompanied Schaal to the hospital along with Angels' coach Mickey McDermott, said the pitch apparently hit Schaal just below the helmet. He said the X rays showed a hairline fracture behind the left mastoid bone.

Tierney said Schaal would be kept at the hospital for further tests, but that no special treatment is indicated as necessary right now.

"The pitch just got away from me," Santiago said, adding that he was going over to the hospital to see the Angels' third baseman.

"I don't like to throw close to anybody," said the Red Sox right-hander, who hit only three batters all last season.

Pro Tennis Still Hurt By Weather

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — A busy schedule of eight first-round matches was on tap for 16 of the world's foremost players today in the rain-delayed $32,500 U.S. Pro Tennis Championships at Longwood.

With a record $8,000 as top prize, officials attempted to stagger the first round over two days. Rain washed out the first day Wednesday. The downpour lifted Thursday morning, but the plush grass courts were ruled unplayable.

The original postponement forced the finals over to Monday, a day later than scheduled.

Rod Laver of Australia, the U.S. pro champion here in 1964, '66 and '67, is top-seeded.

Curtis Cup Golf Starts In England

NEWCASTLE, England (AP) — Shelly Hamlin, a 19-year-old from Fresno, Calif., and Mrs. Ann Welts, three-time U.S. Amateur champion from Mount Vernon, Wash., carried American hopes today in the first match of the 15th Curtis Cup golf competition against Britain.

Miss Hamlin and Mrs. Welts teed off against Mrs. Belle Robertson and Ann Irvin—the first of three foursomes in which players strike the ball alternately over the 6,535-yard Royal County Downs course.

Other pairings matched Mary Lou Dill of Deer Park, Tex., and Peggy Conley, Spokane, Wash., against Margaret Pickard and Vivien Saunders, in one foursome and Phyllis Preuss, Pompano Beach, Fla., and Jean Ashley, Chanute, Kan., vs. Ann Howard and Pam Treddinnick in another.

Indians Deal Wagner For Russ Snyder

CLEVELAND (AP) — Russ Snyler, the Cleveland Indians' newest member, will be in uniform when the Tribe opens a three-game series with the Boston Red Sox tonight.

Snyder was obtained Thursday from the Chicago White Sox and Leon Wagner went to Chicago in an exchange of the 34-year-old outfielder.

Wagner had been with the Indians since 1963, coming from the California Angels.

Snyder went to the White Sox last year from the Baltimore Orioles.

Before departing the Wigwam, the loquacious Wagner said:

"I had a private meeting with (general manager) Gabe Paul not long ago, but only to give him my vote of confidence. I wanted him to know I wouldn't come out with any rash statements and that I was happy just being on this team. I love the Cleveland organization."

Race Taken By Lindgren

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Gerry Lindgren of Washington State University, having scored a near record performance in the 10,000 meters, attempts Saturday to score his third double distance victory in the NCAA Track Championships.

An easy winner in 29:41.0 Thursday—less than four seconds off Danny Murphy's meet record—Lindgren will run Saturday in the 5,000.

Most of Thursday's events in the three-day meet were given over to qualifying and, except for a few instances, there was little that was surprising.

Southern California did all that was expected in its bid to repeat as NCAA champion. Lennox Miller won both his heats in the 100 and 200-meter races, O. J. Simpson wn his 100-meter heat and Fred Kuller qualified in the 100 and 200.

Hurdler Earl McCullouch loafed to victory in his heat, winning by several yards in 13.7. Bob Seagren was one of 11 pole vaulters who cleared 15-6.

Henry Goes To St. Louis

MONTREAL (AP)—Two veteran National Hockey League players moved to new teams as the NHL completed its annual summer meetings here Thursday.

In return, the Rangers acquired goalie Don Caley and right winger Wayne Rivers. Both played at Kansas City in the Central League last year.

Allan Stanley, a defenseman who had played 20 NHL seasons, was drafted from Toronto by the Quebec Aces of the American League, one of 18 players drafted by AHL and Western League teams from the NHL at $15,000 per man in the reverse draft.

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN memory of my husband, Charlie Parsons, who passed away suddenly one year ago, June 14, 1967.
Should you go first and I remain,

happy days we've known. Walk
slowly down that long, long path
for soon I'll follow you. I want to know each step you take, so I may take the same. For some day down that lonely road, You'll hear me call your name.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN memory of my husband, Charlie Parsons, who passed away suddenly one year ago, June 14, 1967.
Should you go first and I remain, to walk the road alone, I'll live in memory's garden, Dear, with happy days we've known. Walk slowly down that long, long path for soon I'll follow you. I want to know each step you take, so I may take the same. For some day down that lonely road, You'll hear me call your name.
—Sadly missed by Wife, Daughter and Grandchildren.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN memory of my husband, Charlie Parsons, who passed away suddenly one year ago, June 14, 1967.
Should you go first and I remain,
to walk the road alone, I'll live in memory's garden, Dear, with happy days we've known. Walk
slowly down that long, long path
for soon I'll follow you. I want to know each step you take, so I
may take the same. For some day down that lonely road, You'll hear me call your name.
—Sadly missed by Wife, Daughter and Grandchildren.

Junior Editors Quiz on OCEAN WAVES

QUESTION: How did we get two major political parties Democratic and Republican?

ANSWER: Waves are formed by the wind pushing up the water surface (upper left). Notice the round white spot, which represents a free floating barrel or buoy. To the right, the crest of the wave has moved on, but the buoy is still in place, showing that it is not the water which moves forward but rather the push or momentum. When the wave moves up to a shelving beach, however, the case is different (lower left). Instead of being waves of oscillation, with the water moving up and down, or in a small circle, these become translation waves, with the water actually moving ahead. But the friction of the shelving bottom slows the water layers nearest to it (lower left). The upper layers of water then peak up and become so high that they topple over with a roar, creating masses of sudsy white foam, as shown by the main picture. Here a young man comes riding in on his surfboard. This is a thrilling sport. A surfer lies down on his board and paddles out beyond the wave line, then stands up and comes riding in.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Sink Stain Cleaning Tip

DEAR HELOISE: I remove yellow spots in my sink with a very simple method and it does a perfect job.

Heloise

I just sprinkle cream of tartar over the surface and cut a lemon in half. With the cut side down, I rub the cream of tartar around the sink and the stain vanishes.
MRS. ELEANOR WILSON.

Mrs. Wilson: I'm in a hard water area so was dying for the yellow stain to accumulate on my sink so I could test it.

I'll never forget Mrs. Wilson. Believe it or not, it works.
HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: As preschoolers adore sitting in boxes, I made a long train out of cardboard boxes for Vacation Bible School last summer.

I painted the outside of the boxed with leftover house paint and fastened aluminum pie plates on the brads for wheels. They were useless except that the children could turn them and they made it look more like a train.)

For the engine and caboose I used strong boxes since these are always the most popular cars. Three boxes made up the engine — one set flat, a second box was on end for the front of the train and a third smaller box on top contained a bell for the engineer to ring.

I painted pieces of rope and fastened one car to the other.

Canning lids made a face on the front of the engine and an oatmeal box painted black passed for a smokestack. A small toy lantern flashlight in the caboose was the final touch.

It went over so well, I had a hard time getting the children out of it for the other activities.
MRS. BROOKES.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you know that the plastic bag which comes on dry cleaning makes an ideal typewriter cover when cut in half?
DONNA STATHAM.

DEAR HELOISE: You told us about using an oilcloth tablecloth on a picnic table.

How abour running some elastic thread around the edges so it will fit down UNDER the table? That way it can't blow off.

If you have a ready-made cloth, you could run the elastic through the stitching already around the edge. Sure is a help.
AVID.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: My cousin came up with the perfect solution for preventing a pile-up of soiled clothes during a long car journey.

She bought a small plastic garbage container with a sealtight lid. In the mornings before starting off, she would put hot water in the pail, add laundry soap and the dirty clothes. She then put it in the trunk of her car.

The day's drive of bumps, curves, etc., would agitate the clothes and get 'em clean! Then she rinsed them later in the motel room, hung them overnight to dry and the children would just slip into them the next morning.

She did this every day of the trip so when she reached her destination there was only one day's wash to do.

Not half so many clothes were needed by using this trick.

DEAR GALS: This is for those of you who dye your own eyelashes and brows. After years of doing this myself, I finally learned a good way to keep from getting the dye in my eyes.

I now put my magnifying mirror down flat on the table and stoop over while putting the dye on.

This way if any of the dye spatters, it will not get back into my eyes as it does when looking into a dressing table or bathroom mirror.
HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: If you have a poorly arranged kitchen, as I do, save steps by carrying your dishes to the cabinet in your dish drainer.
PAT.

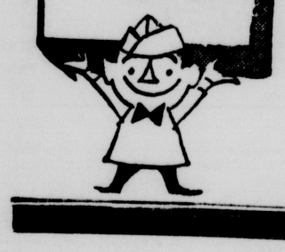

The motto on many U.S. post offices, "Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds," was written by the Greek historian, Herodotus, to describe the mounted couriers of King Xerxes of Persia, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

STICK TO REGULAR SAVINGS

It is not unusual to find people who feel that they can start saving on a "crash landing" basis and thereby meet any sudden need of the moment. Unfortunately emergencies don't happen that way. The need is always acute and the money need, always immediate. A better system . . . a proven system . . . is to save regularly. The weekly plan is the best, and you should save what is possible for you to save. Savings Accounts at our bank can actually be "budgeted" and any one of our Officers will be pleased to draw up a plan for you. Just call or come in today. We'll be glad to help.

Takes only minutes to arrange your loan at our Consumer Credit Dept., Main Office, or at our St. Clair Office, Calcutta.

"Electric heating is so clean and so comfortable...the heat is constant and floors are always warm. I really like it and think it adds to the value of a home," says Mr. Kramer.

Builders know what's best for homes. That's why the majority of new homes in the Ohio Power area have flameless electric heating. It's the clean, trouble-free, economical way to heat your home.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Sink Stain Cleaning Tip

DEAR HELOISE: I remove yellow spots in my sink with a very simple method and it does a perfect job.

Heloise

I just sprinkle cream of tartar over the surface and cut a lemon in half. With the cut side down, I rub the cream of tartar around the sink and the stain vanishes.
MRS. ELEANOR WILSON.

Mrs. Wilson: I'm in a hard water area so was dying for the yellow stain to accumulate on my sink so I could test it.

I'll never forget Mrs. Wilson. Believe it or not, it works.
HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: As preschoolers adore sitting in boxes, I made a long train out of cardboard boxes for Vacation Bible School last summer.

I painted the outside of the boxed with leftover house paint and fastened aluminum pie plates on the brads for wheels. They were useless except that the children could turn them and they made it look more like a train.)

For the engine and caboose I used strong boxes since these are always the most popular cars. Three boxes made up the engine — one set flat, a second box was on end for the front of the train and a third smaller box on top contained a bell for the engineer to ring.

I painted pieces of rope and fastened one car to the other.

Canning lids made a face on the front of the engine and an oatmeal box painted black passed for a smokestack. A small toy lantern flashlight in the caboose was the final touch.

It went over so well, I had a hard time getting the children out of it for the other activities.
MRS. BROOKES.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you know that the plastic bag which comes on dry cleaning makes an ideal typewriter cover when cut in half?
DONNA STATHAM.

DEAR HELOISE: You told us about using an oilcloth tablecloth on a picnic table.

How abour running some elastic thread around the edges so it will fit down UNDER the table? That way it can't blow off.

If you have a ready-made cloth, you could run the elastic through the stitching already around the edge. Sure is a help.
AVID.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: My cousin came up with the perfect solution for preventing a pile-up of soiled clothes during a long car journey.

She bought a small plastic garbage container with a sealtight lid. In the mornings before starting off, she would put hot water in the pail, add laundry soap and the dirty clothes. She then put it in the trunk of her car.

The day's drive of bumps, curves, etc., would agitate the clothes and get 'em clean! Then she rinsed them later in the motel room, hung them overnight to dry and the children would just slip into them the next morning.

She did this every day of the trip so when she reached her destination there was only one day's wash to do.

Not half so many clothes were needed by using this trick.

DEAR GALS: This is for those of you who dye your own eyelashes and brows. After years of doing this myself, I finally learned a good way to keep from getting the dye in my eyes.

I now put my magnifying mirror down flat on the table and stoop over while putting the dye on.

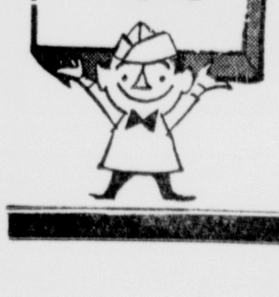

This way if any of the dye spatters, it will not get back into my eyes as it does when looking into a dressing table or bathroom mirror.
HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: If you have a poorly arranged kitchen, as I do, save steps by carrying your dishes to the cabinet in your dish drainer.
PAT.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Mars, more than any other planet in our solar system, approximates earth's physical conditions, as well as being only 34.6 million miles from earth at its closest approach. Mars has about half the diameter and 1-10th the mass of the earth, and therefore, only about 40 per cent of the earth's gravitational pull.
